INFLUENCES ON LEAGUE MANCHURIAN SESSION

City Incensed Over Government Action

RELIEF WORKS CUT ONE THIRD AFTER APPROVAL

Victoria Council to Seek United Protest by Union of B.C. Municipalities Against Government's Action in Slicing Appropriation for Work; Prospect of Closing Down Work Entirely Until Agreement Reached

As the result of information from the provincial government that the city's $300,000 relief programme, already approved, would be cut to $200,000, despite the fact that the city was applying for authorization of an additional $200,000 worth of work, the City Council this morning decided to request a meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities' executive with the object of laying a united protest before federal and provincial authorities against cuts in relief work.

Unless the government reconsiders its position and gives the city further aid, suspension of all relief work now in progress looms, Mayor Ansonbom informed the council.

Furthermore, the city has committed itself for piping contracts aggregating more than $150,000, which to carry out its relief programme. In all probability these will have to be suspended until government assistance is granted.

The council did not take definite action on the latter points pending receipt of a reply from a wire sent to Senator Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, demanding an explanation of the cut in the programme which had already been approved.

DELEGATION INFORMED
All these matters were explained to a delegation representing both single and married unemployed who came to protest against the council's recent action in reducing the amount of work granted each month. The married men said they had been given to understand that when the wage scale was cut from $4 to $3 per day this meant they would get steady work. Since that time they had been cut to three weeks' work a month, and owing to lay-offs from wet weather the earning capacity of the men was further reduced.

The Mayor, who complimented the delegation on the reasonable attitude of their spokesman, then explained the whole situation to the men and tabulated recent correspondence between himself and government officials, so the men would realize the council was not to blame.

The recent developments are the outcome of the trip of Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, to Ottawa, the Mayor explained.

CITY'S POSITION
The Mayor pointed out that the city had been working so far on a verbal agreement by letter, dated September 25, approving $300,000 worth of the city's $500,000 programme. It had received no agreement from the financing, beyond a general understanding that the government would take the city's bonds as security for money loaned to it.

"As soon as Mr. Jones returned from Ottawa I went to see him," the Mayor said. "I discovered quickly that he had no further information, and I'm sure he did his best at Ottawa, but then he told me the city's programme had been cut to $200,000. We have had no official notice of this yet, however."

The Mayor said he had told Mr. Jones the city had already ordered its piping for the relief work, and had interviewed him again last Saturday in an endeavor to reach a settlement.

MAY HAVE TO SHUT DOWN
"My view is that all work will have to be closed down and the pipe orders suspended until an agreement is reached," he stated.

A letter from the Mayor to Mr. Jones was then read, setting forth the city's claim for $5,700 on account of the summer relief programme, still unpaid by the government. It also asked reconsideration of the decision to cut the city's winter programme down to $200,000, pointing out the seriousness of the situation, and expressed surprise that the city had been taken without any official notification.

The city also asked for a definite understanding on the financing of the work, stating it could not continue to spend money borrowed from banks as the understanding was that the financial burden need be carried only for the first thirty days of the work.

PRESSING OTTAWA

Mr. Jones's reply stated the government regretted inability to give more information, but was pressing matters at Ottawa to try to reach a decision. The first question asked was by Alderman H. O. Litchfield, who wished to know the city's position in regard to the pipe contracts, and was told by the city solicitor that they were binding on the city.

"It is merely a case of holding them up," the Mayor explained.

GANDHI SPEAKS OUT PLAINLY ON ARMY CONTROL

Tells London Conference His Followers Will Not Agree to Outside Authority

Conference Sessions Prolonged For Week; Gandhi Will Remain

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 17.—Mahatma Gandhi's Indian Nationalists will fight "until eternity" for full control of the army in India, he told the federal structure committee of the Round-Table Conference here today.

"We will go through fire and storm and distress," he said, "and if it is God's will, through a shower of bullets to obtain our independence."

"The nation which has no control over its defence forces is not a responsible nation, and if the British people think it will be a century before we can be trusted with control of the army, then for that century the Nationalist Congress will wander in the wilderness. If India cannot have complete control over the army then the army should be disbanded. I will wait until eternity if I cannot get control over the national defence."

SESSIONS PROLONGED
The government decided to prolong the conference for another week.

"This leaves me in a fog," said Mr. Gandhi, "but I am ready to spend the winter in England if necessary to secure some tangible results from these meetings."

TO CUT SALARY OF SNOWDEN

Premier Tells British Commons Viscount's $10,000 Will Be Reduced

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 17.—Premier MacDonald, in reply to questions raised at him in the Commons today, said the salary of $10,000 drawn by Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Lord Privy Seal, who yesterday was raised to the rank of viscount, would be subject to reduction under the national economy plan.

The office was a sinecure, the Prime Minister said, but Mr. Snowden would have plenty of work to do of a special character.

Mrs. Snowden, who will share her husband's rank, draws $5,500 as a member of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Commenting on the elevation of Mr. Snowden to the peerage, The Manchester Guardian today says: "It is a strange role for the toughest and most consistent political fighter of our day. We can but await its development in the hope that the blessing of Snowden the viscount will take a more helpful shape than the mere abuse of principles and party for which Snowden the commoner stood throughout his life."

London, Nov. 17.—Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Lord Privy Seal, who was created a Viscount yesterday, this morning said he had not made up his mind what title he would take. He said he had not reached a decision without some consideration.

YUKON RIVER FREEZE-UP IS COMPLETE AS MERCURY FALLS

Canadian Press
Dawson, Yukon Territory, Nov. 16.—The great Yukon River stopped running early this morning, with the temperature at twenty-seven below zero. The main river and all tributaries are frozen over solid and are expected to remain so until next May.

When next spring's break comes it will not be heralded by Dawson's annual ice sweepstakes as formerly. Present economic conditions and the aptness of certain operators along the Pacific Coast in faking tickets on the sweep has decided the committee in charge to drop the big contest indefinitely. Only numerous local pools will function.

BRITISH M.P.'S RUSH DUMPING DUTY MEASURE

Clear Way For First Reading in Commons By Passing Financial Resolution

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 17.—By a vote of 394 to 51, the Commons today pushed the government's anti-dumping bill through its first stages.

This measure, which gives the Board of Trade discretionary power to impose import duties up to 100 per cent on a wide range of manufactured and partially-manufactured articles, is to have a formal first reading to-night and is scheduled to be passed through all stages by Friday.

To-day's vote was on the financial resolution connected with the bill. Yesterday, Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, said the measure was calculated to prevent dumping of foreign goods in Great Britain in anticipation of a British tariff.

Nominee Leaves Ratepayers' Ranks As Split Widens

John Wood Will Not Be Candidate for School Board on Association's Ticket, He Says; Frank Higgins, K.C., Denies Dissension; Three More Candidates for Aldermanic Honors, Bringing Total to Eighteen

Trouble encountered by the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, developing a split over the nomination of candidates for the civic election, threatened to reach wide proportions today as John Wood, announced as one of the association's candidates for school trustee, definitely informed The Times that he would not stand as a candidate on the ratepayers' platform.

This reduces the number of the association's slate to eight and leaves it with only two candidates in the field for four School Board seats.

Mr. Wood did not qualify his statement of retirement, merely saying he was "not a candidate."

Frank Higgins, K.C., who has been directing operations for the association, stated Mr. Wood was retiring for business reasons. Mr. Higgins denied there was any split in the association over its election campaign plans, and stated all the candidates were working in unison.

STILL IN RUNNING
However, Alderman R. T. Williams, who has been actively involved with the group since its inception, is still a prospective mayoralty candidate. He said yesterday he would seek the honor if a large delegation asked him to run but, as far as could be learned, the delegation has not interviewed him yet.

In addition Mrs. Alice McGregor and ex-alderman John Harvey, who were supporters of the association, are entered as candidates independent of the organization's platform.

Meanwhile the election moves in other circles were developing rapidly. Three new candidates for aldermanic honors were named in the persons of Robert H. B. Ker, insurance and real estate operator; Charles E. Wilson, barrister, and Ray F. Castle, retired. This brings the total number of candidates to thirty-one, taking into account Mr. Wood's retirement. These include eighteen for the council, four for the mayoralty, four for police commissioner and five for school trustee.

THREE RETIREMENTS

There will be at least three changes on the council next year following the polls on December 10. Mayor Ansonbom and Alderman R. A. C. Dewar announced retirement previously, and this morning Alderman J. L. Mara confirmed the general impression that he would not again seek office. Mr. Mara has served on the council for seven years, and during the last two years has been chairman of the public works committee, a particularly onerous task during the handling of the unemployment problem.

Mr. Ruddock was repairing the roof of his home when the accident occurred.

MILK PRICES SLASHED HERE

Big Distributors Join in Cut; Retail Trade Conditions Chaotic

Under-cutting By One-man Dairies Blamed For Unsettlement

Revision downwards of milk prices in the Victoria area are now under way following a cut by the Royal Dairy, which has been followed by all the other big wholesale and distributing dairies.

The distributors have cut their prices to big consumers and stores from 38 cents a gallon to 35 cents a gallon for milk in bulk; and from 44 cents a gallon to 40 cents a gallon, or 10 cents a quart, for milk in bottles.

Retail store prices range from 14 cents down to 11 cents a quart, bottled. Dealers who deliver bottled milk by retail in the residential districts have reached no settled price level yet, but are ranging from seven quarts for a dollar to ten quarts for a dollar, according to the individual dealer and the district he is serving.

"The milk situation here at the moment is chaotic," one of the big dealers explained. "A standard retail delivered price has not yet been arrived at and dealers and consumers are setting their own prices by bargaining with each other."

"The whole milk situation is very difficult. The blame for the situation is being put on the numerous one-man dairies that are springing up on all sides and are cutting prices. The result of this increasingly bitter competition is that the delivery men have had to fall back on getting any price they can and then only to find a competitor next day undercutting to a lower price and taking the customer away."

Green prices remain unchanged.

Burglars Send Back Loot With Note Of 'Joke'

Oak Bay Police, However, Refuse to Accept Explanation and Will Continue Hunt for Culprits Who Entered Home of J. Bowden.

Joke or no joke, Chief John Rymes of the Oak Bay Police does not intend to suspend investigations into a double robbery at the home of J. Bowden, 2392 Beach Drive.

It happened this way. On Tuesday and Wednesday nights of last week a burglar entered the Bowden home, breaking a window and making off with about $20 in cash and some jewelry. At the same time several homes in the city were burglarized.

The Oak Bay officers had been inquiring into the theft for two days, when, on Saturday morning, all the stolen articles, including the money, were returned.

On a piece of paper accompanying the goods was the word "joke."

"Perhaps they think it was a good joke. But anybody who has had his home entered doesn't regard it as a joke, neither do we," said the Chief to-day.

Stimson Denies U.S. Is Tied By New Promise In Manchurian Discussion

GRANDI URGES NEW PRACTICAL DISARMAMENT

In Washington to Meet Hoover, Foreign Minister Voices Italians' Hopes

Tells Newspapers Disarmament Is Most Important International Question

Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 17.—The conversations scheduled for 4 p.m. to-day between Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy and President Hoover were postponed until 9.15 to-morrow morning.

Signor Grandi to-day said it was "high time" the world sought a practical solution of the disarmament problem.

In a conference with newspapermen in Secretary of State Stimson's office, the Italian Foreign Minister called disarmament the most important question "existing in the relations between countries."

"It is high time everybody seeks a practical result in the disarmament moves," he said.

Responding to a question regarding the possibility of a Franco-Italian naval settlement, the minister expressed his "hope" that such an agreement could be reached.

"Italy feels such an agreement would be good and it would be welcomed by everybody in Italy."

The minister spoke in English, freely and fluently.

MUTE ON TREATY REVISION

The only question he did not respond to directly was one as to whether he would specifically discuss with President Hoover the revision of the Locarno Treaty.

"Don't put that difficult question to me," he said smiling.

In answering questions on the disarmament problem he referred to the ready agreement of the United States to the one year's armament holiday which he put forward at Geneva.

His reason for proposing the truce, which has become effective through its acceptance by the principal nations, he said, was a "demonstration of good will."

"The practical result of the truce has been achieved," he added.

CO-OPERATION PROPOSED
He said the purpose of his visit to President Hoover was to bring peace co-operation of all nations and to contribute to their economic recovery.

Asked if he brought with him a specific purpose, the minister replied it was only with the discussion of specific ideas that he could be contributed toward recovery.

REPORT DENIED

Paris, Nov. 17.—Premier Laval intervened during the debate on foreign policy in the Chamber of Deputies to-day to say that at no time during his conversations in Washington was the question of France lending money to Germany raised.

Seely's New Book Tells Of Hitherto Unrecorded Sir Sam Hughes Fight

By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 17.—An account of a fight fought between Major-General Sir Sam Hughes, Canadian Minister of Defence, and General Beyer, South African Minister of Defence, and witnessed by King George, Marshal (then General) Foch and other notables is contained in a book of reminiscences by Major-General Sir Sam Hughes, published to-day by Hodder and Stoughton.

The author commanded the Canadian cavalry brigade during a considerable portion of the Great War. Two years before war broke out, he was Secretary of War in the British Government and when the army manoeuvres were held in the eastern counties he was in attendance on the King.

Several unfortunate incidents occurred that day. General Seely's own charger went lame, so the remount department supplied him with a strange horse.

No Pledge Given Republic Would Steer Clear of Pressure on Japan in Bringing Final Settlement With China; While League Council Delegates Confer Reports Say Russia Inclines Toward Action in Manchuria Against Japanese Advance

Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 17.—A denial that the United States had promised not to bring pressure on Japan in the Manchurian situation, and the explanation that Ambassador Dawes was remaining away from the League of Nations' Council session in Paris until the State Department had decided how far it could go with the League, were issued by Secretary of State Stimson here to-day.

WHERE JAPANESE AND CHINESE TROOPS OPERATING

By P. L. Kipsey Jr., Associated Press Correspondent
Paris, Nov. 17.—Portents of changes in the attitudes of the United States and Russia to-day threw fresh fits of anxiety over the League of Nations Council, which is facing the test of its down years in an effort to restore peace in Manchuria.

Reliable indications appeared overnight that the United States was relaxing its firm stand for Japanese evacuation of the disputed area and that Russia was beginning to bestir herself against Japanese military activities close to the Siberian frontier.

The members of the Council, without the Chinese and Japanese representatives, met privately at Quai d'Orsay shortly before noon. The meeting followed private individual conversations of Ambassador Dawes, United States observer, and Chairman Briand with the Chinese and Japanese spokesmen, Dr. Sze and Ambassador Yoshizawa.

SOVIET PROTEST
The impression gained ground that the United States Government is inclined to co-operate closely with the League in its efforts to settle the controversy, and a report was received from high authority that maximum Soviet support for the League is being given.

Affairs, had filed a protest at Tokyo regarding Japanese army movements in the region of the Chinese Eastern Railway, and the Russian sphere of influence in Manchuria.

This news led to the belief that Russia would not keep her hands off the situation indefinitely if the League should fail to halt the Japanese advance.

FRENCH PRESS OPINIONS
The French press has adopted an attitude favorable to the Japanese and expressed the belief that the great powers, except Germany, are beginning to regard Japan as the defender of the validity of existing treaties and a protector of the status quo.

Prentiss Gilbert, United States Consul-General at Geneva, who sat at the Council table during the previous session, is not present for this one and League supporters pointed out to-day that the change leaves the United States without representation in the meetings of the Council.

Intimations from Manchuria that Russia was showing concern over Japanese moves there reawakened talk of Soviet intervention "to save China from the invader."

Dr. Sze, Chinese spokesman, has given notice that he expects action from the Council and will no longer be satisfied with promises. Chinese sympathizers now suggest that if the Nanking Government can not get help from the League its next move will be to accept Soviet assistance to defend its territorial integrity.

IN THE OLD WAY
In certain quarters it was said that a so-called compromise plan discussed yesterday evening amounts to an effort by the great powers to rebid China to the old treaties under which the great nations enjoyed special privileges of extra-territoriality in Chinese territory.

CIVIL SERVANTS AIR TROUBLES

Lowest Paid Workers Suffer Most in Salary Reductions

Smaller checks received by civil servants since the reduction in wages made retroactive to October 1 went into effect have caused considerable discussion and dissatisfaction throughout the Parliament Building staffs with sharp contrasts drawn between the effect on the highest paid workers and those in receipt of smaller salaries.

As recently as last April salary increases were made to a number of high paid officials while the lower paid ranks were ignored. Although some of the top grades have received the highest cut the increases they received more than balanced the reduction.

Officials in receipt of salaries of between $5,000 and $8,000 are in many instances receiving more than they received last year, despite the general reduction throughout the service.

Hundreds of lower paid employees, who did not receive increases in April, have been hardest hit by the general cut, civil servants point out.

Addition to the Parliament Building staff of highly paid officials when it is claimed, there were many men in the service more capable than those brought from outside who criticized and blamed to a certain extent for the necessity of pruning $250,000 from the government payroll. The policy of promotion was threatened by the action of the government bringing in outsiders.

The government's action in this respect is under fire from some Conservative members with whom civil servants have discussed the matter and a party cleavage in which at least one Victoria member may figure is forecast at the next session.

WHEAT HIGHER AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—Wheat prices crept to higher levels for the second consecutive day on the Grain Exchange here to-day. Taking their cue again from strength at Liverpool, values advanced to record convincing gains of from 2 1/2 cents to 2 3/4 cents at the close.

November closed at 69 1/2 cents a bushel; December at 69 1/2; May at 70 1/2 and July at 71 1/2.

Sentiment was less divided than on recent days and there appeared again here to-day, the Nationalist party, declared Wang Ching-wei, young Leftist Canton leader, "China will stand firm before any Japanese show of force."

"Whatever the outcome of the League Council's session at Paris," declared Wang Ching-wei, "China will stand firm before any Japanese show of force."

Enough Extra Miles to Circle the Globe!

No doubt about it—the average life of a car has doubled in the last few years. Buyers of motor cars demanded longer life; manufacturers were forced to put into their cars thousands of EXTRA miles! The basis on which motor car value is judged is the ability to stand up year after year—to give as thrilling performances in these thousands of EXTRA miles as when the car was new. It is this added life that buyers of new cars pay for. Because the original buyers of the cars paid full value for those thousands of EXTRA miles, yet did not even tap them, you can profit! For those are the smoothest, most comfortable miles a car can give—when the car is in the peak of form.

Drop in—see these amazing values yourself. You will agree that you could not ask more of a new car than any of these used cars is waiting to give you—enough EXTRA miles to circle the globe!

"BUY BRITISH" PRINCE URGES

Empire Marketing Board's Campaign Aided By Prince of Wales

Birmingham, Nov. 17.—The Prince of Wales yesterday delivered an appeal to business firms and private individuals to "buy British" and thus help restore the Empire's commerce.

In his address from here, broadcast throughout Great Britain, the Prince said: "This is the rule which I ask you to follow in great purchases and small: First choice for home products; second choice for products of the empire overseas."

As for himself, he spoke "as a farmer and cattle breeder of England and Canada, as a master of shipping fleets and as a man whose fortune it has been to travel widely over the Empire."

"Here at least in the home and at the counter is the opportunity for every woman in her own way to help her country in its hour of need. I appeal to every woman who is listening to take that opportunity and do the country that service."

"The whole world is concerned to see the fortunes of this country solidly established and we cannot rest content with our fortunes while so many of our people are unemployed and so many of our producers find it difficult to market what they have grown."

SEATTLE MAN FALLS OUT OF HOUSE WINDOW

Seattle, Nov. 17.—Plunging through a third story window of his home today when he slipped on a rug, E. W. Campbell, sixty, former president of the defunct Puget Sound Savings and Loan Association, possibly sustained a fracture of one hip.

Campbell, recently convicted of grand larceny in connection with the association's failure, was peering out the window trying to light a pipe, said Mrs. Campbell, who added that for the last two weeks they had been troubled by attempted robberies.

When they were awakened by a noise outside, they went to different windows, she said.

FUMES CAUSE DEATHS

Los Angeles, Nov. 17.—Poison fumes seeping through a forgotten hotel room pipe from fumigation operations yesterday caused the deaths of Earl Bowman, twenty-two and his fifteen-year-old brother, Eugene. DELEGATES FROM MANITOBA FARMS MEET IN BRANDON

By GILLIS PURCELL,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Brandon, Man., Nov. 17.—Farmers of Manitoba to-day opened a convention here which may bring them back into the political arena with the farm bodies of the other two prairie provinces. Political action, rejected in Manitoba four years ago after prairie agrarian power had declined from the heights, is to be a prominent topic of discussion at the three-day annual meet of the United Farmers of Manitoba.

No unanimity of opinion on the highly debatable question was apparent as delegates gathered for the opening session. It is expected the matter, though not listed on the program, will be fully discussed when two resolutions, one in favor of political action, one against, come before the convention Thursday.

Should Manitoba's organized farmers decide to re-enter politics they will be following sharply on the heels of the United Farmers of Canada (Saskatchewan section). The mid-prairie farm body decided at Saskatoon only this year to take political action and local branches have since approved the move. The United Farmers of Alberta have long been active in politics. They hold a large majority in the provincial Legislature and are well represented at Ottawa.

NEW RULES FOR FOREIGN TRADE OF GERMANY

Berlin, Nov. 17.—Germany's foreign trade will be subjected to much more stringent controls under new regulations announced to-day, because foreign exchange is not being yielded to the Reichsbank as it should be under the existing emergency decrees.

It is expected that under new regulations all exporting firms will have to report all foreign sales to the foreign exchange commissioner.

The note circulation shrank 88,140,000 marks, preventing the gold coverage from shrinking still lower.

TWO NEW YORK MEN MURDERED BY GANGSTERS

New York, Nov. 17.—Two minutes passed before a man was shot in the back of the head in a restaurant in Brooklyn thick with smoke of guns early to-day and two men dead on the floor.

A motor car drove up in front and four men got out. They entered the restaurant with pistols in their hands and walked quickly toward a table where sat three men.

The guns blazed in unison, the roar of the weapons being magnified by the walls and ceiling.

The killers backed out of the door, covering their retreat with their smoking weapons, got into their car and were lost in the darkness before pursuit could start.

The two who were slain were Guglielmo Mogica, twenty-eight, known as a gangster and recently acquitted of a homicide charge, and Benedetto Ruggero, twenty-seven, concerning whom police said they had no record.

The third man at the table, who apparently saw the killers as they were entering, dropped under the table and crawled out a kitchen door. None of the restaurant workers knew who he was.

"ALFALFA BILL" URGES ECONOMIC CHANGES IN U.S.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 17.—The National Farmers Union opened its annual sessions here to-day with a pre-convention statement from Governor William H. Alfalfa Ball Murray that the "economic level must be reversed or the country will march on to destruction."

The farmers and middlemen must be freed from the chains of Wall Street if prosperity is to return, he told 1,500 delegates at a banquet yesterday evening.

Taxes, he contended, must be readjusted on the basis of ability to pay. He advocated a graduated income tax. Charging a Wall Street coup d'etat in the Congress of 1875 with having started the present economic disorders, he continued that "no country can exist without the plough," and advocated a banking system that would finance farmers and the small businessmen over an extended period.

Lloyd Hamilton, One Leg Healing, Breaks the Other

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 17.—There is something worse than a broken leg, Lloyd Hamilton, film comedian, has discovered. It is two broken legs.

For several weeks Mr. Hamilton was in a Hollywood hospital with a broken left leg as the result of a traffic mishap. He was released a few days ago to hobble about on crutches.

Yesterday evening he visited his actor friend, Rex Lease, and on departing undertook to demonstrate to Lease a new walk. He started for his automobile, the crutches collapsed and the actor fell, breaking his right leg. He was returned to the hospital.

Mob of 500 In New York Has Clash With Police

New York, Nov. 17.—A mob of 500 men, led by a woman, charged down early to-day on two policemen guarding an East 14th street restaurant, scene of recent disorders.

One officer was knocked down and kicked by members of the mob, said to be Communists.

The woman leader was seized by a policeman and thrust into the taxicab, only to be pulled out from the other side of the cab by her followers.

CONFERENCE ON REPARATIONS

Paris, Nov. 17.—The French and German governments have reached a virtual agreement on the text of a letter the German government will send to the World Bank for International Settlements at Basel asking the convocation of a Young Plan advisory committee. It was learned on good authority that the French position was understood to be that the unconditional reparations payments must be maintained, but that France would consent to a second committee to consider questions the Young Plan committee would not be permitted to touch.

It is expected the Young Plan committee will not be called until after Premier Laval has received approval of parliament toward the end of the week.

The Young Plan provides a special committee may investigate Germany's financial and economic situation if Germany asks the World Bank for postponement of reparations payments. Germany has sought to have the powers of this committee extended to include jurisdiction over unconditional payments and private short-term credits. It is understood a second committee would be created to deal solely with private loans. Neither committee would be empowered to consider unconditional payments.

STILL SEEKING BIG LOAN FOR BURRARD SPAN

North Vancouver, Nov. 17.—Directors of the Burrard Inlet Tunnel & Bridge Co. will reopen negotiations with the Vancouver Harbor Board for a $200,000 loan despite receipt of a writ from Sir George Perley, acting Prime Minister of Canada, to Percy Ward, secretary, that the government was not inclined to sanction the loan.

This was decided at a meeting yesterday when a reply was received from Hon. H. H. Stevens to a telegram sent Sunday evening on receipt of Sir George Perley's wire.

"Amended traffic by-laws are on way to Vancouver for correction by harbor board," Mr. Stevens' reply stated. "Amendments understood to improve bridge company's position. Obviously no final assurance can be given until order-in-council approval has been passed."

Mr. Stevens added he would do his utmost to expedite matters as soon as the amended by-laws should be returned to Ottawa with the harbor board's approval.

IRISH FREE STATE TREATY IS DISCUSSED

London, Nov. 17.—A plea that Anglo-Irish treaty rights be expressly served from the effects of possible Free State legislation after the passage of the Statute of Westminster was made yesterday in a letter to the press signed by Lord Carson, Lord Dunsford, Col. John Crichton, Conservative member of parliament for Burton, Stafford, and D. G. Somerville, Conservative member for the London borough of Willesden East.

The letter says the Free State government obviously hopes, after the passage of the statute, to abolish the right of appeal to the Privy Council in London, which is valued by a large body of those in the Free State who are loyal to the crown.

"If parliament allows this safeguard to be set at naught, what weight can be attached to any eventual safeguards for the minorities in India," the letter asks.

"If, as a result of the statute, the Free State government is placed in a position to abolish this provision of the treaty, there will be nothing to prevent them tearing up the entire treaty, including provisions for affording facilities for Imperial troops in the event of war," the letter concludes.

HOME FOR AGED IN HAMILTON INVESTIGATED

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 17.—A special committee was named yesterday evening to investigate charges made before the property and license committee of the Hamilton council that patients in the Home for the Aged and Infirm were not properly fed, were cruelly treated and lacked adequate attention.

The charges were made by Mrs. Margaret Friend, who resides near the institution. Alderman Hodgson, chairman, named an investigating committee and promised an early report.

"The sick and dying in the Home do not receive attention they should," said Mrs. Friend. "They die there at night without anyone near them. I do not like to make these charges, but I can not stand by and see this injustice go on. I have had some of them come to me crying with hunger, and I have taken food into the institution for the last five years, and some of the inmates have told me they could not eat the food placed before them because it was so poor," she declared.

SOUTH AFRICA LOAN DEBATE

Capetown, Nov. 17.—The British government has emphatically denied a report which appeared in The Afrikaans Press that it had indicated to the French government its views with disfavor a British Dominion securing a loan from a foreign country for the purpose of bolstering up its own currency in opposition to the English pound.

The denial was made public by Premier Hertzog on the authority of the British government. The British communication "most emphatically assures the Union government there is no truth in that statement and that such an attitude on its part as that attributed to it would be wholly contrary to its policy and indeed unthinkable."

ROUTING BEGGARS

San Francisco, Nov. 17.—Every policeman in San Francisco received orders from Chief William J. Quinn yesterday to drive panhandlers off the streets. All beggars, Chief Quinn said, would be taken to city prison and booked. Those who proved they were deserving would be turned over to charitable agencies for care. The others would be detained.

RESCUED BY FIREMEN

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Trapped by flames and almost choked by smoke, five persons were rescued from a downtown building here yesterday evening by firemen after they had climbed part way down a fire escape. Three of them were women. Two others in the building made a dash through the smoke and flames down the stairway into the street.

MR. BENNETT AND MR. THOMAS

IN VIEW OF THE FACT THAT PREMIER Bennett will reach London in a few days, The London Times thinks there is no need for Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas to include Canada in his empire tour in the cause of inter-imperial trade. It points out that the Canadian Prime Minister will be able to take stock of the situation over there as modified by the advent of the National Government, and by the abandonment of the gold standard. It argues, too, that the Imperial Conference is more likely to succeed if each government taking part understands the special needs and difficulties of the others. It then tells Mr. Thomas that he could settle with Mr. Bennett the "broad lines" of the conference's procedure, leaving the preliminary work thereafter to be done by their technical advisers, while a staff of British experts might well visit Canada to co-operate with Canadian departments in preparing a detailed scheme.

The Times and Mr. Thomas, of course, know that the government at Ottawa, through the Prime Minister, has renewed the offer which Mr. Bennett made in London last year. This was not acceptable to the government in office at Westminster at that time. How the National Government views it is its own secret. Nobody doubts Mr. Thomas's sincerity in his desire for a greater trade between Canada and Britain. There is no reason to believe that Mr. Bennett is any the less sincere. But if we could advise Mr. Thomas we would suggest he ask Mr. Bennett if he is prepared to make a better offer than he has made. An affirmative answer to the inquiry would put a different complexion on the whole question as far as Canada and Britain are concerned. We hope our Prime Minister has a better offer in his bag.

MRS. J. H. TODD

MANY ACTIVITIES IN THIS COMMUNITY which have exercised a beneficial influence upon several generations of Victoria's citizens owe a very great deal to the unflinching and intelligent interest which the late Mrs. J. H. Todd devoted to them. Her lovable nature, her understanding of the real values of life, her artistic attainments, seemed to have endowed her with the secret of perpetual youth. For although she had passed her ninety-second milestone, fifty-eight in Victoria, she had full command of all her faculties and followed the march of events as keenly as anybody many years her junior.

As long as seventy years ago Mrs. Todd left her native Staffordshire to join her mother and sisters who had preceded her to Ontario. In the community which was destined to be her home for several years she played the same active part in its affairs that marked her generous contributions to the arts, church life, and charitable causes for so long in Victoria. She had a genius for organization, and no matter to what movement she applied it, its success was assured from the outset. With such diversified interests, of course, it was only natural that the circle of her friendship should become a very wide one. And those who were privileged to know her intimately knew and understood her unflinching sincerity.

Mrs. Todd was the widow of one of Victoria's pioneer businessmen who established the firm which still bears his honored name. Her passing leaves another gap in that fast-dwindling band of pioneers, the men and women who laid the foundations for much that the present generation enjoys in our community life, and the deepest sympathy will go out to those who are left to mourn. To all of these The Times extends its sincere condolences.

OUR MATERIALISM

MODERN CIVILIZATION AND THE materialistic outlook came in for a scathing attack by Dr. Cyril Norwood, the head master of Harrow, in an address at the annual meeting of the York (England) Diocesan Branch of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. He deplored what he considered the complete absence of spiritual values, and took the war as an example of how little it had taught Europe. It had "uttered in a carnival of materialism, a denial of God, and the laws of God, the like of which the world, in its history, has scarcely seen. The result has been the world situation with which we are confronted to-day."

There never could be peace for a nation or a society of nations, Dr. Norwood proceeded, where the material values of money, pleasure, and the various forms of Mammon were the sole objects of human pursuit. We might find ourselves more and more committed to a system of education which would produce a spirit of ambition rather than service, a spirit of class rivalry, and hatred rather than of close co-operation; a system that would encourage the instinct to measure success by material results and never by spiritual peace and unity. Never had it been more vitally important to build up sound character in our schools. We should never establish or re-establish our position in the world in any better way than by creating an absolute faith in our credit, our honesty, our courage, and our industry, Dr. Norwood went on. After the war nations sought to re-establish themselves in such a fashion as to get the maximum of plunder. By reason of tariff walls and insistent demands for reparations, we had millions of unemployed and people going hungry in the midst of bulging granaries. At home since the war, we had followed material values and concerned ourselves only with the division of the national dividend. In the conflict of class we had forgotten primary laws. We had forgotten that we could not spend more than we could produce, and that our neighbors existed to be helped and not to be plundered. So we had come to the verge of national bankruptcy. We had before us, said he, a long and difficult climb to bring us again to peace.

Dr. Norwood obviously realizes, as others have, that the world can not walk along the old paths and bring peace and prosperity to its peoples. The heart of man must have a better tenant than a blind obsession with material things. There are forces at work attempting to bring this about. Nations are beginning to understand that the formula of co-operation is better for them than the old method of dealing with one another. But there is much work yet to be done before the higher values of life are embraced by the peoples of the world as a whole.

THE ROYAL WINTER FAIR

THOSE WHOSE VIEW OF THE FUTURE is too near the present for a true perspective, will find encouragement in reviewing the wonderful advances made since the war in the various branches of Canadian activity. If past experience be a sound guide, Canada is now taking a breathing spell to gather fresh energy for a great forward movement. This steady advancement is reflected most impressively in the Royal Winter Fair, to be held in Exhibition City, Toronto, from November 18 to 26, commemorating its tenth anniversary.

Compared with the first show in 1922, the fair of 1931 is in a greatly improved position in the matter of equipment for the housing and exhibiting of the thousands of entries in all departments, gathered annually from every part of Canada and the United States. It has now an established reputation, but its position is backed by something that is even more important—the loyal enthusiasm of exhibitors and the steady and encouraging support on the part of the public. In a sense, the last decade has been for the fair a time of pioneering. The enthusiasm of exhibitors has always run so far ahead of accommodation as to justify important extensions to the original buildings.

By enlarging the building plans on its tenth anniversary, the 1931 Royal Winter Fair marks not so much the ending of an epoch, as the beginning of a still more comprehensive and effective service to Canadian agriculture. Nearly twenty years ago the need for such a show became apparent to a small group of men, and ten years of patient planning and organization work saw their hopes materialize in the first Royal Winter Fair. The construction of the Coliseum building provided the nucleus around which later developments could take place. The hopes of those early enthusiasts have reached complete fulfillment, for the tenth fair is in reality the starting point for the great agricultural exhibition that they had in mind.

ABOLISHING THE CITY

BERTRAND RUSSELL, BRITISH SCIENTIST and philosopher, proposed in a recent debate in New York that the state instead of the family ought to bring up children; and while there does not seem much chance that his plan will be adopted very soon, one of the arguments he used is worth thinking about.

He admitted that parents are usually better at the job of raising children than any state institution can be. But he insisted that this is true only if the parents live in good conditions, and he pointed out that most people nowadays live in cities, and that the small apartment—typical of city life—is very far from being a good place for children.

All of this is true enough. No one who has spent all or part of his childhood in a city apartment will deny it. But there may be another way out of the difficulty. Since the city apartment is a tough place for youngsters—and an ever-increasing percentage of families live in apartments—why not, instead of trying to abolish the family, abolish the city?

It is very possible that this is an issue which will engage a major share of the public's attention during the next half century.

The shift from a rural to an urban civilization in the United States is a very recent thing, and it is not entirely finished yet; but it has gone far enough to make it perfectly clear that the city, in a great many ways, is not much of a place in which to live and rear a family.

It is crowded, noisy and dirty. When streets and vacant lots are used for playgrounds—as they have to be, in thousands of circumstances—the results are distressing. Among a child's inalienable rights (and a grown person's, too, for that matter) ought to be the privilege of wandering across open fields and through quiet bits of woodland; yet that privilege is simply unattainable to the many city dwellers.

Society, by this time, has developed rapid transit facilities sufficiently to enable it to abolish the closely-packed urban residential district if it chooses. It may be necessary for us to group industries and offices together; but why can not living quarters be put a score of miles away, out in the open, away from the congestion and noise?

Already there is a tendency in that direction. So far it is limited chiefly to the fairly well-to-do. Sooner or later it ought to extend to everyone in the big cities.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

AGAINST ARMED PEACE
 The Montreal Star

One more voice—and that a powerful one—has been heard urging the nations to stop the mad competition in armaments. General Smuts, whose right to estimate the risk and the horror of war none will deny, spoke at Sheffield University and told the British people that armed peace had led to the World War and would lead to another war, more horrible than the imagination of man could conceive, unless a real measure of disarmament puts an end to the existing armed peace.

General Smuts does not regard it as a matter of life or death to achieve spectacular success at the forthcoming Disarmament Conference at Geneva. What is of more importance, in his opinion, is that there should be a definite halt to further armaments and a definite policy of progressive limitation imposed to replace that of progressive growth.

Here lies the crux of the whole world-problem. Pocket battleships are no means to that end, but merely an evasion. Juggling with armaments, with guns and with speed is not a step towards peace. The danger is imminent; the remedy is clear. But unless those nations who are in the lead make equally clear their acceptance of a recognition of the principle of progressive limitation as the only way to peace and their determination to turn that principle into fact, talk of limiting armaments by conferences will make little or no impression upon the world at large.

Loose Ends

Concerning romance and Kamloops—and snow—Mr. Pudbury's scorn and the little girl's views on the weather—all very dull withal.

By H. B. W.

MISS C. STENSO, who made a great hit some years ago with her Canadian novel "With a Chance," has written another one, the name of which escapes me. Anyway, she has written another novel, which is running serially in one of the larger American magazines, and which will be published shortly in book form. I happened to glance through the first chapter to-day and, to my amazement, I found that the scene of this romantic adventure was laid nowhere but in our own Kamloops. It never occurred to me before, and I dare say it never occurred to any other British Columbian, that dear old Kamloops was romantic. My tenderest memories of Kamloops are the Conservative convention where Dr. Tolmie was elected leader (not a very tender memory for him, perhaps) and the excellence of the lamb chops at Winter Silver drill. But an outsider like Miss O. Stenso comes along and finds Kamloops a place where heroes and heroines may dwell. Under her spell, what we have always called the pretty view from the golf links up on the hill has become a magic realm of mountain, forest and river, fit setting for heroic deeds. Through the eyes of Miss O. Stenso the world at large is going to imagine Kamloops as some fairy land forlorn.

YOU SEE, therefore, that, without realizing it, we are living here and now in a romantic era. Without knowing it, without the slightest exertion on our part, we are romantic enough by nature to thrill the great American public. And if Kamloops can send a cold shiver down the great American's spine, what would Victoria do? Victoria, the little bit of England, etc., etc., any tourist booklet, Victoria with its heroic history, its castle on the hill, its little white bear and its government across James Bay trying to balance its budget? If Kamloops is romantic, what are we to say of ourselves? We are the very stuff of which poetry is made. Let that cheer you up. Next time you feel depressed, just think of the poor Americans whose life is so drab that our sounds like rousing fiction beside it. Just remember that, whatever we may seem on the outside, we are romantic to the core. But, alas, when you are so close to it, when you have looked at the castle on the hill and the little white bear so often, when the noble spectacle of the government slaving by night to balance its budget, with the lights all burning across James Bay (a substantial cost to the taxpayer) has become almost commonplace—then you hardly realize just how romantic you are.

IT IS especially hard for me this morning when I feel quite discredited. This morning, you see, it is snowing out our way. It is snowing abominably hard and we are wondering whether it is going to be two square deep (the accepted standard of measurement, as if the only task was that of cheer you up. I AM NOT discredited, by the way, in my weather predictions. Oh, no. Recall, gentle reader, how I have persistently warned you that it would be a hard winter. Admit that I handed on to you without charge the scientific predictions of Bill Potts, our wood man, who said it would certainly be a hard winter, as he has always predicted before. And don't forget either how I kept mentioning the plethora of berries on the hollies and mountain ash trees. You cannot say that you were not prepared for this weather.

IT IS not in the scientific field I am discredited, but rather in the romantic. Just a moment ago, you see, George Pudbury came trippingly up through the snow, appropriately dressed with one large sack tied about his shoulders and another about his middle. He trudged straight to my window, as I knew he would. "Hey," he shouted, and the vibration of his voice was sufficient to dislodge several snowflakes from his red moustache. "I'll serve you right all right," he asked, rather stiffly. "Look," said Mr. Pudbury, shooting his right arm out of the sack and waving it towards the valley. I looked. The fields were great patches of white, the black silhouettes of the naked oak trees faded to a dull grey, and the hills had quite disappeared.

"THIS," SAID Mr. Pudbury scornfully, "is what you bin a-prayin' fer, I s'pose. Yeh, I s'pose you'll say you've forgot by this time, but I ain't forgot. Last week you writ in yer paper a big piece about November. Yeh, you did. November, you did, a big rough fellow—a strident fellow—a duty was said. Well, look at her! You got her! There she is! There's November for ye, all laid out flat and white and stiff like a corpse! You asked for her, now you got her and you can take her to Mr. Pudbury, who strode off asking me to take November to a place which, unhappily, is not mentioned in this newspaper, except by ministers of the church. He strode off, his sacks flapping in the wind and the snowflakes hanging to his red moustache.

BUT JUST as I was beginning to repent my indiscreet references to November along came the little girl from next door. She was all bundled up in her white coat, with the fur around the neck and with a much under that she could hardly reach her sides with her hands. Her arms were pushed out at an angle of about forty-five degrees. This was the first snow that the little girl remembered and she couldn't quite make it out. "My daddy," she said, "says that Mummy Goose sent this snow down from up in the sky. He says she's bin pluckin' her geese and these is their feathers comin' down. Well, her geese must be funny geese all right. Their feathers ain't nice and warm like the feathers on old Bek's turkeys. 'Cause when I tried to pick 'em up in my hands they was as cold as anything. I guess Mummy Goose's geese must have caught cold up there, eh?"

SHE LOOKED meditatively up at the sky while some big white flakes fell on her face, and then she said suddenly: "I bin to Sunday school on Sunday day. They teach us a new hymn. They taught us 'Jesus loves me, as I know, 'cause the Bible told me so.' 'As' and 'we' is weak, but 'I' is strong—'but,' she added with evident satisfaction. "He isn't as strong as my daddy." With which she ran off to see how the cows were getting along in the snow, and I found to my horror that, having wasted the morning in idle talk, I had no room for the profound column which I was going to write on provincial politics. Alas, it has been quite snowed under. It is beyond rescue, I fear.

NEW EMERGENCY DUTIES SOON IN GREAT BRITAIN

Runciman Outlines Government's Plans for Legislation

Canadian Press
 London, Nov. 17.—Emergency powers to be conferred on the Board of Trade, under which maximum duties of 100 per cent may be placed against a variety of imported articles at the moment unspecified, will be sought from Parliament. Mr. Runciman, secretary of the Board of Trade, said today that the government was considering the necessity of the government proceeding cautiously. He expressed his private opinion that Great Britain would be foolish to follow the United States in the policy of trade protectionism, which would be to restore trade permanently to its former position, rather than restrict imports.

RUSH IS SEEN
 Coming to the crux of his proposals, Mr. Runciman said there had been anticipation about the duties. The last weeks of the imposition of duties in Great Britain as an early date. The result was that exporters had been trying to land their goods in Great Britain as early as possible. The duties would be applied to goods coming in from the United States and from the Dominion of Wales. He listed such goods as plate and sheet glass, cutlery, sewing machines, typewriters, colored cottons, woolen tissues, carpets and call leather.

"We have come to the conclusion," said the Board of Trade president, "that the best way to deal with this is by giving power to the Board of Trade to issue an order—which must come within four weeks to the House for its sanction—which will impose the duties on goods which the duty will apply, a duty not exceeding 100 per cent."

The announcement brought loud cheers from the crowded benches. "It is a good thing," said a member of the House, "that the Board of Trade has added the former free trader, which brought another loud cheer. 'It must be so effective as to put an end to or reduce the strain on our purchasing power, and it is a duty which is so far as possible without injuring our own people.'"

FOR AGRICULTURE
 I know I shall be asked what we are doing for agriculture. The powers we are asking are emergency powers and will expire in six months. As this is a forestalling bill, we have not included agriculture, but the Minister of Agriculture (Sir John Gilmour) already is at work on his proposals."

FOR DOMINIONS
 The London Daily Telegraph to-day said the National Government did not intend its new dumping duties should apply to goods from the Dominions. The paper's political correspondent said that where a duty was imposed, a concession would be made in regard to goods from the Dominions. The paper said the duty against goods from the Dominions would be fixed at the equivalent of the imperial preference rates.

ANXIETY AT WASHINGTON
 By Ken Clark, Canadian Press
 Washington, Nov. 17.—The report from London that the Board of Trade might be empowered to place duties as high as 100 per cent on certain classes of manufactured articles, some of which are largely exported from the United States to the United Kingdom, was received in Washington with surprise and apprehension. Government experts had not foreseen such rapid and drastic action on the part of the National Government.

Warning had been given, however, by advocates of lower tariff in Congress, notably Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois. Representative David J. Lewis of Maryland and Senator Edward Costigan of Colorado.

Representative Rainey said that if empire duties were instituted a "valuable market" would be lost to the United States. Lewis charged the Hawley-Smoot tariff with being responsible for the rise of tariff sentiment in Britain.

The falling off in the foreign trade of the United States since the 1929 crash, and since the institution of higher duties by other nations, has thoroughly alarmed Washington. As an indication of what has happened to trade between the United States and Great Britain the figures for eight months ended with August, 1931, as compared with similar period in the previous year are given as follows:

Exports, 1930 $439,000,000
 1931 387,000,000
 Imports, 1930 149,000,000
 1931 99,000,000

BRITISH

To the Editor:—In your issue of November 12 re Returned Soldier not being Britain's debt only, is it possible there is anyone who lives under the "United Jack" yet does not regard himself as British, even though he be Canadian, Indian, Australian or from any of our far-flung outposts of the Empire? To object to so small a matter as his subject to his calling our war dead, "British Dead," is not in keeping with him being a British returned soldier. Possibly he is a foreigner living in Canada, and thus does not understand the significance of the word "British."

REMEMBRANCE DAY

To the Editor:—It was a wonderful response that the public gave in observing this day of Remembrance, but on reading the reports from various parts of the country, it would seem that there was a lack of unanimity and with the various Chambers of Commerce, Attorneys-General, chiefs of police and organizations placing different interpretations. We trust that we are not presumptuous in offering our humble suggestions proffered in neither a hostile nor a controversial spirit, and fully aware of the dangerous and delicate ground on which we are treading.

Looking back over a number of years, one of the outstanding events that changed our philosophy of life, was the first military funeral we attended in Woolwich, England. Coming from a strict Scottish home where observances were rigidly adhered to, it came somewhat in the nature of a shock, when to us, the beauty and solemnity of the occasion, with the band playing the "Dead March," was suddenly changed after the last rites had been performed, and we marched away with a swinging gait while the same band played lively marching airs. "Remember under Caesar the things that are Caesar's" and having paid the price of admission to the military band of those gone, let us then turn our thoughts and energies to the living, which we believe would be the interpretation of those who led us to carry on, looking after dependents and those incapacitated. In an experience of several years connected with what was known as "Poppy Day," we always found the citizens more than willing to co-operate in what was recognized as the soldiers' day, and there were no side conflicts with the military drives or dance arranged to augment the poppy fund for charitable purposes. We shall make life much easier for many who are left in periods of depression when everything seems hopeless, and feel sure that if the Armistice Period Committee will take this point under advisement for another year, that their funds will be considerably increased, and that there will not be any danger of the general public misconstruing the sentiment.

BRITISH-ISRAEL

To the Editor:—In view of the large number of your readers who are interested in British-Israel, will you kindly print the enclosed copy of an open letter to the Dean?

E. W. ABRAHAM.
 14 Boyd Street, Victoria, B.C., November 16, 1931.

Open Letter to the Rev. Dean Quinton
 Dear Mr. Dean: I could almost thank you for your amazing and, I think, unnecessary, attack on British-Israel, because it usually happens that when a man in your position attacks some opening creed, he you did this morning, he will find that he has rather benefited than hurt the cause he is opposing. No doubt you are sincere in many of your beliefs against this teaching, but I do not think your address showed a great study of the subject or surely you could not have said, amongst other absurdities, that British-Israel is a mission mainly restricted to itself, a statement which is diametrically opposed to British-Israel teaching.

It is, to say the least, rather bad taste for you to denounce, from the pulpit, a teaching which, on your own admission, has at least made people turn to their Bibles, which modernists have lately been doing their best to pull to pieces, without being able to replace it with anything but various unproved, so-called scientific theories and "ologies."

If you and your friends could once get hold of the real spiritual meaning of British-Israel truth, and would preach it from your pulpits, you would fill every church in the country, and would go a long way towards ending the present depression and strife throughout the world, the whole cause of which is too much churchianity and not enough Christianity.

With regard to your seven main points against British-Israel, may I reply as follows:

No. 1 and 2—Fully answered by Gal. iii 29, and elsewhere, and this is fully taught by British-Israel.
 No. 3—May be sufficiently answered by a glance through the published lists of British-Israel scholars.
 No. 4—Any League of Nations which does not take God into account cannot hope to prosper. Similarly disarmament must be world wide and in a right spirit before it can succeed.
 No. 5—A thorough study of British-Israel will reveal that the date, May 29, 1928, as quoted by you, was the actual beginning of the present economic war. See Mr. Davidson's book on the Great Pyramid.

 No. 6—The whole of British-Israel is for the furtherance of the Kingdom of God, which must come through the chosen people Israel, who were not chosen as a favorite people, but as a people set apart for that very definite purpose.
 No. 7—If more people had the B.I.B. in their homes, the world would be a better place.
 How do you explain Jer. xxxi 35-38, also Hebrews vii 8-12?
 E. W. ABRAHAM.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for the first time since its construction about fifteen or sixteen years ago, is clear of debt. This pleasing announcement will be made to the congregation from the pulpit by the pastor, Rev. Leslie Clay, at the regular service to-morrow.

Over 5,000 boxes of Japanese oranges, the first shipment to arrive this season, were condemned by Provincial Fruit Inspector Thomas Cunningham at Vancouver a few days ago. They arrived on the Empress of China. Upon careful examination Mr. Cunningham discovered no less than five different species of scale and a lot of fungi on this consignment.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Lammiman have returned from an extended trip to the east.

Although figures are not available in many instances, the reality sales of the past week probably passed the $250,000 mark, which is a very high figure considering this is what is generally known as the off season.

Arrivals from the north by the C.P. steamer Amur report that the Que Charlotte Islands are at the present time attracting a great deal of attention. Every trip the Amur makes the islands she carries a number of prospectors, who are attracted by the stories of rich mineral wealth the many who come out from the Yukon stop over at Port Simpson, and the steamer from there to the Que Charlotte Islands.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Light to moderate winds, generally fair and colder.

Twice-a-day gargle with LISTERINE reduces severity of colds, also their number

KILLS GERMS YET HEALS TISSUE

Wouldn't you like to feel that you've got a chance of heading off colds entirely or cutting down their number?

Wouldn't you like to feel that even if you do catch cold it may prove slight instead of serious?

If so, we say to you: Make a habit of gargling twice a day with full-strength Listerine, the safe antiseptic. Its preventive action, while not infallible, produces amazing results.

Tests on 204 people show that those who used Listerine twice a day contracted only one-half as many colds—and often one-third as many—as those who did not gargle with it at all.

And that even when colds were contracted they lasted only one-third as long and were one-fourth as severe as colds contracted by non-garglers.

Such results are due to Listerine's ability to immediately kill germs without harming the delicate tissues of the mouth. The fact that Listerine's action is healing to tissue instead of irritating recommends its use over harsh mouth washes so dangerous they must be diluted before they dare be used.

Make a habit of gargling with full-strength Listerine twice a day. It helps to fight infection and at the same time puts your breath beyond reproach. Lambert Pharmacal Co., Toronto, Canada.

Choose Mouth Washes Carefully

Some watered—Others dangerous

Of 205 mouth washes submitted to laboratory examination, 94 were non-antiseptic, 107 could not kill germs in 3 minutes, 143 could not kill in one minute, others were so harsh they were dangerous to tissue, dozens had no deodorant effect whatever.

CANADA TRADE WITH SALVADOR

John Wright Says Coffee and Sugar Could Be Exchanged For Flour and Lumber

Douglas Fir Might Replace California Redwood For Construction Purposes

There should be a market for Canadian flour and British Columbia fur in El Salvador, in the opinion of John Wright, consulting engineer, who is in the city to-day from the Central American republic.

He is so impressed with the possibilities of trade between Canada and Salvador that he intends to take President Arturo Arango, who is a personal friend, when he returns to San Salvador.

"I believe El Salvador would welcome trade with Canada, providing competition can be met with San Francisco, Portland and Seattle," said Mr. Wright at the Empress Hotel to-day. He is here with his sister, Mrs. E. Hooper, and niece, Miss Audrey Hooper, of Vancouver.

BARTER SYSTEM
"If the barter system could be adopted, and the nations returning to this system of trade, I believe that El Salvador would be prepared to exchange coffee and sugar for Canadian flour and lumber," he continued. "The republic now imports practically all its flour from the United States, and I don't see why Canada could not get some of this business." He suggested that Canadian businessmen get in touch with the Asocion de Cafeteras de El Salvador, the controlling organization of the coffee industry in the Central American republic.

Mr. Wright spoke of the recent trade arrangement reached between the United States and the Republic of Brazil, whereby wheat is traded for coffee.

California redwood is largely used in the construction of houses in El Salvador, Douglas fir from British Columbia would be equally suitable for this class of construction, he said.

COFFEE EXPORTS
El Salvador exports annually 1,000,000 bags of coffee, averaging 130 pounds to the bag. Great Britain takes most of the washed coffee, which is the more expensive, while the bulk of the unwashed coffee goes to the United States and France.

Wood is used almost entirely in the construction of residences in El Salvador, said Mr. Wright. The system of construction is known as "Bajareque," the frame walls being filled with rubble and then plastered. The capital of San Salvador was almost wiped out by earthquake in the seventies and other heavy quakes were experienced in 1917 and the following year. For this reason the buildings are limited to one and two stories. The buildings of San Salvador are of steel and marble. The National Palace, built in 1908 at a cost of $2,000,000, is faced with marble, as is the reinforced concrete National Theatre, costing upwards of $1,000,000. The principal ports of El Salvador are La Union, a deep water port, and La Libertad, where freight has to be lightered.

FREE EDUCATION
Education is free in El Salvador, even the universities and colleges receiving subsidies from the government. The university of San Salvador, and the medical college and the hospital, are among the finest to be found on either of the American continents. The hospitals are free to those not in a position to pay.

In making his arrangements for his present tour to Victoria, Mr. Wright at first planned to make the trip by air. "Had I done so I could have reached here in eighty-four hours, but my doctor advised me against it, and so I took passage by the steamer California," he said.

El Salvador is linked with the rest of the continent by the air route via Tampico, Brownsville, Texas, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle. A Sikorsky hydroplane maintains a service between San Salvador and Havana, Cuba. Mr. Wright has been looking over some property in Victoria, and said that he may decide to settle down here. He is returning to San Salvador, but expects to be back here next June.

PRAIRIES PACK UP TROUBLES

Prosperity Revival Being Ushered in, Says James H. Beatty

Preparations are being made in the east to welcome the return of prosperity, and it is expected the new order of revival will be quickly ushered in, according to J. H. Beatty, M.P.P., who has just returned from Chicago and Toronto.

"A trip away from home at the present time is the greatest antidote to any feeling of depression which may have arisen in one's mind," said Mr. Beatty. He declared there was no doubt the end of the depression was in sight, and told of the number of new factories that were being erected around Toronto and United States cities in preparation for the coming burst of prosperity. He said the prairies were already forgetting their troubles, caused by the low wheat prices early in the year.

In Chicago, Mr. Beatty, as the representative of Canada attended the first meeting of the North American Economic Advisory committee associated with Rotary. Sydney Pascal, international president of Rotary, came from London, England, to attend the party.

B.C. PRODUCTS PARTY HELD

Langford, Nov. 17.—The British Columbia products party held on Saturday evening in the Women's Institute Hall was a decided success. Emblems representing some B.C. product were worn. Mrs. George Eldridge carried off a special prize for her exhibit of vegetables, chicken, cream, eggs and flowers. Miss Sheena Smith, fancy dress and Miss H. G. Kelly, depicting local products, both received awards. Mrs. R. B. Murray succeeded in guessing the most emblems, and received a prize. The prizes were shrubs and trees donated by Miss Saylor and William Saylor.

Six tables of progressive bridge were enjoyed, the prize winners being Mr. and Mrs. J. Trace, while the consolation fell to Miss H. G. Kelly and Mrs. R. J. Smith.

Mrs. Hines, Mrs. Kemp, N. G. Johnston and W. Fielding obtained the five hundred prizes.

Refreshments were served on long tables decorated with brown chrysanthemums.

LANGFORD

Mrs. J. L. Brown and Mrs. Holden, who have been spending a few days with Mrs. A. Cowie, Leigh Road, Langford Lake, left on Friday for Vancouver. Mrs. Brown intends visiting friends at Calgary.

The fourth of the series of card parties will be held on Wednesday, November 18, at the Women's Institute Hall at 8 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded for the highest scorers.

Saanichton

Rev. Bruce Gray, M.C., of First United Church of Victoria, was the principal speaker at the Remembrance Day gathering of ex-service men held in the Orange Hall, Saanichton, last Wednesday evening under the auspices of the North Saanichton branch of the Canadian Legion. After a short session presided over by the branch president, Comrade Nat Gray, over sixty ex-service men sat down to supper in the large hall.

Comrade Gray, in a very able address, carried his audience from Val-carier and through the war years and selections. Mr. S. P. Birley, Stelly's back to civil life again. "Youth in all countries paid," he said, "and we who served should make every effort to end war and make peace and goodwill among all nations our constant aim."

Comrade Frank Spooner ably assisted in the programme with four selections. Mr. S. P. Birley, Stelly's Crossroad, was the accompanist. Comrade C. R. Wilson piped the Fraser's Lament in memory of fallen comrades.

During the evening ten new members were accepted into membership in the branch, including Rev. Bruce Gray.

London Professor's Daughter Disappears After Visiting in Wellesley, Mass.

Associated Press
Wellesley, Mass., Nov. 17.—Rosemary Pamela Gilling, seventeen-year-old daughter of Herbert Gilling, London, England, banker, who disappeared from the home of Professor Hamilton MacDougall Saturday, has been traced to the Hotel Clinton, Springfield, where she was registered over the week-end. She registered at the hotel late Saturday and checked out yesterday, shortly before a train left Springfield for New York.

Chief of the hotel said she talked with no one and spent a great deal of time sitting in the lobby reading papers.

A letter, postmarked Boston and mailed at 12.30 a.m. Sunday, was received by Prof. MacDougall yesterday. In the letter Miss Gilling wrote that she was homesick and planned to return to London. She had been a house guest at the MacDougalls for fourteen weeks and was to stay another month and a half.

RECEIVES KING
CHARLES LEGACY

New York, Nov. 17.—Son of the late George W. Pendrell, retired railwayman of Brooklyn, Irving H. Pendrell, Brooklyn, has just received the $400 grant his father had received all his life from the estate of King Charles II of England.

According to the story connected with the annuity the Pendrells are direct descendants of the Pendrells of Restoration. It is said it was a French soldier who aided the escape of King Charles in the woods at Boscombe when soldiers of Oliver Cromwell were seeking the fleeing King's head.

Richard Pendrell, a yeoman, hoisted the King up into a great oak tree where he remained until nightfall while Cromwell's men scoured the woods for him in vain. To show his gratitude King Charles bestowed a grant of $400 annually on Pendrell and, as provided for in a royal charter granted in 1675 and at present in the vaults of the solicitors to the trust, in Wolverhampton, the bounty goes to the eldest son of the descendants.

ART TREASURES
FOUND IN CANS

Old Masters, Stolen From Moscow Gallery in 1927, Are Recovered

Moscow, Nov. 17.—Priceless art treasures were restored to the world today following the discovery of five noted paintings buried in tin cans in two places in Moscow.

The pictures were stolen from the Moscow Art Gallery in 1927. They are the "Picture of Christ," by Rembrandt; the "Ecce Homo," by Titian; the "Holy Family," by Correggio; "St. John the Evangelist," by Carlo Dolci; and the "Scourging of Christ," by Pizano.

The tins were found sealed and the pictures were covered with a special composition to protect them from damage. The Titian was damaged slightly from damp, but it is to be restored by experts.

Several persons have been arrested, including a painter named Kokorev.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDBRED

SOME BABIES ENJOY HURTING THEMSELVES

Children develop and practice a host of habits which baffle the parent. It is hard to understand why some children, from one to two years of age, enjoy bumping their heads. Yet their enjoyment is obvious. Children will spend their leisure time before naps or bedtime pounding their heads against the top of the bed, or the wall, actually to the point of injury.

Other children get somewhat the same satisfaction by pulling out their hair in chunks. Babies do this, sometimes nibbling and swallowing the hair afterwards, a habit that is nauseating to contemplate.

Punishment has little effect in curing such habits. But to prevent opportunities for the child to indulge in them should result, along with natural growth, in decreasing their satisfaction.

"My baby is just eighteen months old," writes a mother. "Lately she has begun the habit of pulling out her hair. She pulls so much of it that she has a bald spot on top of her head. She does this mostly when I put her to bed. Can you tell me any reasons for this? Will you kindly send me the leaflet 'Menus for the Child From Eighteen to Twenty-four Months'?"

Luxton

The committee in charge of reconstruction and alterations of Luxton Hall, state it will be completed for the opening frolic dance, November 30. The hall, originally a two-story structure, was dismantled during the summer and reconstructed as a single story building, the dancing area being made one-third larger, also a large committee and card room being added. Funds to cover the alterations were raised through the sale of de-bentures to residents and others, together with the local Athletic Club, who donated its entire surplus funds to the building fund of the Luxton hall committee. The labor was supplied voluntarily under the direction of W. Heath, Freddie Mould's orchestra will supply the music for Friday night's dance. Bridge and five hundred is being arranged for the non-dancers. Tombola awards of potatoes and groceries will be an added attraction. Refreshments will be served.

Juvenile Musical Arts.—Owing to the death of her mother, Mrs. J. H. Todd, the lecture which was to have been given by Mrs. J. Hebdon Gillespie on Saturday afternoon before the juvenile branch of the Musical Arts, has been indefinitely postponed. The meeting will be held as usual, however, and the programme will be announced later.

Island Has Too Many Women; To Import Some Men

Adelaide, Australia, Nov. 17.—Officers of the United States freighter Potter (8,204 tons), which made a surprise call at Pitcairn Island in the South Pacific Ocean, report that the leaders there are considering importing men, as women are in a great majority.

The population is now 150, and there is evidence of a weakening of the people's magnificent physique owing to inter-marriage. The Pitcairnians insist that the imported men must be of the best type, willing to work and to respect the island's established principles.

STIFF IN HIPS AND KNEES

Widow who Wondered why Her Joints Would Not Work

THE REASON—AND THE REMEDY

A strange stiffness that suddenly developed in her hips and joints puzzled this woman. She couldn't understand why, when she wanted to step on a chair, the second foot wouldn't follow the first. She didn't recognize it as rheumatism—but happily she used the right remedy. This is her own account of her experience:—

"I began to wonder why I felt so stiff in my hips and joints. If I wanted to get on a chair, I found it difficult to raise my second foot. But after taking one bottle of Kruschen Salts, I have derived great benefit. Going upstairs was difficult, but now I can walk up ordinarily and I feel I have got the Kruschen feeling. I had stiffness many years ago and occasionally looked rather sorrowful, but since taking Kruschen Salts my skin seems very clear. At the age of 62 I am working like a young one—even better than some at 30 years. I recently lost my husband, but I am enjoying my own life, thanks to Kruschen."—Mrs. M. C.

Do you realise what causes rheumatic pains and stiffness? Just what caused hers and everyone else's—nothing but sharp-edged crystals of uric acid which get between the joints. Kruschen Salts will swiftly dissolve those needle-pointed uric acid crystals which have settled in the joints. And because Kruschen is a combination of six salts, its work does not stop there, it will also flush out of the system every trace of these dissolved uric acid crystals. Further still, the regular daily use of Kruschen will prevent uric acid from ever forming again by keeping the inside regular and free from all poisonous waste matter. Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all living, thanks to Kruschen. —Mrs. M. C.

SLIGHT FOOD CHANGES
AFFECT THE BODY TREMENDOUSLY

My grand niece weighed less at eight months than at birth, due to "infantile colic." Was plastered with ointments and unattended for seven months—entire household exhausted from lack of sleep. I added vegetable juice to each bottle feeding, pushing more. After two days she slept fourteen hours without waking. Ointments then discontinued, baths resumed. No rash, no itching in four years since. Why? Vegetable juice alkalized her blood, killing the acid-caused eczema. Alkaline Roman Meal has kept her blood alkaline since.

Alkaline Roman Meal also saved my life when the great Oiler told me twenty-three years ago I could not live four months. Now at seventy-three, not two percent of men thirty have muscles, strength or endurance equal to mine, built up out of alkaline Roman Meal. I'll send you a free booklet "HOW TO KEEP WELL," and other literature, also sample of Roman Meal and Kofy-sub, the new alkaline beverage. If you'll write for them to ROBT. G. CHURCH TYPES
ARE EXPLAINED

Archdeacon Laycock Gives Illustrated Lecture at Memorial Hall

Development of church art from the earliest times was reviewed yesterday evening by Venerable Archdeacon E. Laycock at the Memorial Hall, the lecture being illustrated with a collection of lantern slides owned by the Warham Guild of London, England, shown here for the first time.

The lecture reviewed the architecture of the early Christians, showing pictures of the basilicas and round churches and of frescoes found in the early churches. There were also views of the little clay lamps ornamented with New Testament subjects—the shepherd, the eucharistic grapes and the fish—symbols of the church.

Archdeacon Laycock said that many eminent ecclesiastical architects maintained that the basilica, the earliest type of building used by the Christians for public worship, was the only type suitable to modern conditions. He expressed a preference for the Byzantine form of church edifice, as being simple, dignified and convenient, and stated that a convention of ecclesiastical architects had recently gone on record as recommending return to the old custom of whitewashing the interior walls of churches.

One of the pictures of Byzantine churches showed that relatively small accommodation was provided for seats, and the archdeacon commented that in ancient times the congregation stood during worship, there being no seats. He remarked that it was an interesting problem as to the sort of congregations which would attend the churches of to-day if the people had to stand.

GOTHIC INDIVIDUALISM

When discussing British cathedrals a view of Durham Cathedral was offered, as showing one of the best of the Romanesque style in England. Archdeacon Laycock explained that Gothic structure were essentially individual constructions, the style giving great opportunity for the initiative of the craftsmen. Gothic style provided for the use of great grace and beauty, while allowing most economical use of materials. The lecturer believed the charming little country houses to be, in spirit, the most Gothic structures of to-day, because of their expression of the individual idea. "Gothic cannot be copied; we must change society before we return to Gothic, which must express the individual idea," he said.

NOTABLE CHALICE
In addition to the various architectural forms and their development, there were shown examples of church furnishings, ornaments and emblems. Among the pictures of ornaments associated with altars was one of the big chalice used in Christ Church Cathedral on special occasions. This was said to be the most valuable chalice in Canada. It was dated 1689, and had most interesting repoussé work. Both St. Paul's and Westminster Abbey, London, had made great efforts to secure the chalice before it left England, but the generosity of an anonymous friend secured the treasure for Christ Church, Victoria.

Kellogg's All-Bran
supplies
"BULK," VITAMIN B,
IRON

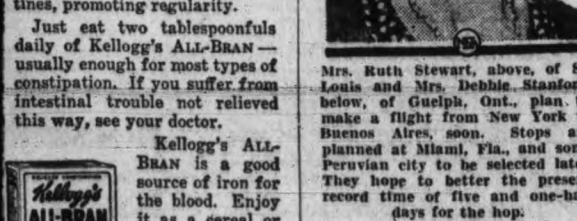

Kellogg's All-Bran provides "bulk" in a convenient, ever-ready form. This "bulk" is much like that in lettuce, but it is concentrated in more convenient form to relieve constipation.

Inside the body, Kellogg's All-Bran isn't like you see it in the package, but a soft mass. This gently cleanses the intestines of waste.

In this, it is aided by Vitamin B, richly present in ALL-BRAN. This vitamin tones the intestines, promoting regularity.

Just eat two tablespoons daily of Kellogg's All-Bran—usually enough for most types of constipation. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Kellogg's All-Bran is a good source of iron for the blood. Enjoy it as a cereal or in cooking. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Gems of Peril

"By avoiding their methods, and using my own! He can't be taken in an open chase, that's been tried too many times. Very well. We'll emulate a spider, spread our web and wait for him! He'll come. The necklace will bring him. He is the only one who knows the truth about Eddie. He must be made to tell, that's all. If you want to do something for me, do that! It's the one thing I want, more than anything."

He was silent a long time. Mary could not read his thoughts. Every thing hung on his answer—she almost prayed.

"If I thought you two youngsters were right—that that man was the one—I'd never leave him. I was above ground! Every cent I've got would go to see him hung! Spots of red burned in the bloodless cheeks; Mary had not seen him so galvanic with life since the first few hopeful days of the police search for his wife's murderer. The thirst for revenge gave him an unexpected zest in life. It might be a better thing for him, in the end, than the coddling Dr. Jordan had enforced on him.

Jupiter slapped the arms of his chair. "If you were a boy, now—but a girl like you—what will people think if I let you walk up to that crook with a fortune hanging around your neck? No, sir, I can't let you do a crazy thing like that, Mary."

"Then," Mary said quietly, "under the terms of your wife's will, I will choose the necklace. Although it really doesn't matter now whether I actually have the necklace in my possession or not. The fly thinks I have. Those stories will have told him that and he saw me wearing it. It's too late now to back out." As soon as he thinks it safe again, he'll be making another try for it. And all the papers say you've given the necklace to me. I'm in danger now, and I always will be, while he's at large. For my own safety, the best thing I can do is bring him to justice as quickly as possible. As for seeking him out, I'll be far safer knowing his movements than I'll ever be with him at large. . . . you see that, don't you?"

Jupiter scratched an ear. "That's mighty near the truth," he admitted. "It may take a little time," Mary continued, "but it can be done. Don't you mind me? I shall be frightened. I wasn't frightened before when I saw him in the shadows. I was thrilled as any schoolgirl, and I can't tell you how glad I was when I saw him. I'll long until—but he got away. We'll have to wait a while—flush him again, as Bowen calls it, but we'll get him. I don't want them just to send him to jail—I want them to hang him! I do! Her own vehemence surprised her, but she knew it was true—that these unbecoming, bloodthirsty sentiments were truly hers.

She turned on him, demanding defiantly. "Does it sound awful? I mean it. I never knew I could hate anyone as much as I hate that man!" She walked about, her eyes stormy, her face flushed.

But Jupiter was not looking at her. He was staring at the necklace in his own hand, the pattern of the rug, his hand clenching and unclenching on the crook of his cane. He held it at arms length, like a weapon, and banged the floor with it.

"If he's the man," he said, "I'll see him hung if I have to put every cent I've got behind it. By God, I'd like to tend to it myself! If you can tell him on board the Gypsy."

"I can. I can trick him. I know I can," he boasted with tight with caution, and there, what men! The door behind them opened.

"I'm sure you can, Miss Harpner. Mary whirled about. Bruce Jupiter's voice spoke sweetly at her, a voice quiet that followed her last words. "You do that sort of thing so well!"

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this paragraph and hand it to them, and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer, perhaps from total deafness. The medicine can be prepared at home and is made as follows: Secure from MacFarlane Drug Co. or your druggist a quart bottle of Parmitin (Double Strength). Take this home, and add to it one-quarter pint of hot water and a little sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. Parmitin is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are usually always quick and effective. Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this preparation a trial. (Adv.)

PERSONIFIES PARIS

Nineteen-year-old Miss. Eliane Mirka has been selected as "Miss Paris of 1932." Beautiful but decidedly not dumb, she holds a university degree, is an accomplished linguist and has achieved note as a sportswoman.

night finishing up some matters that couldn't be left undone. It's the same with me. Don't worry about it, and above all, don't think you must help. I don't expect you to, and I'm not angry about it, really.

"I am leaving Monday for Florida on the Gypsy with the Jupiters. Can't you come and see me before I go? If I don't see you again before I go, though, I make you this promise—that whether this job is finished or not, I will keep my date with you in December. (Or have I one?)

With love, always, MARY.

When she had the letter sealed, stamped and ready to go she had the impulse to run to Dirk with it in her hand. How could she wait until Monday for an answer? Perhaps if she went into the village and mailed it now, it might reach him on the late afternoon delivery.

Impetuously she threw off her clothes, found an old pair of riding breeches and shirt, and donned them. Then she telephoned the barn and asked to have a saddle put on Betsy, the mild little mare that was hers to ride when not more gainfully occupied at pulling the lawn mower or the station wagon.

Excitedly she slipped on the prospect of getting out into the crisp autumn air, and by her errand, she went out, whistling happily. Outside her door, she came face to face with Bruce, who had evidently moved into the room across the hall.

"We are neighbors," he said. "I'm sorry if the proximity annoys you."

Mary seized the opportunity to talk to him outside his father's door. It was a chance she had hoped for, and it would have found it distasteful to seek. "Let me understand you," she said, coming forward to look him straight in the eye. "If I accept your father's offer to make me his heir, it means that you will remain here, with him? That you will not go back to Europe as you planned?"

"How bright are you!" "And if I refuse it, you will go on about your affairs as before?" "Bruce was obviously taken aback. "If I thought you meant it—yes," he returned hesitantly.

"Then I accept." "Accept? But—" Bruce struggled with surprise.

Mary repeated, "I accept and I expect you to live up to your bargain. If the only consideration that will induce you to change your mind is selfishness of living and spend some time with your father, I fear of me, then I am glad to be of use. It's too late now to do anything about it, so far as your mother is concerned, but there's still your father who would like to see something of you, oddly enough."

YOUR CHILDREN

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

©1931 BY NCA SERVICE INC.

Now that vacation is over, a complete reorganization of home life has to take place. And it is a good thing that is so, for nothing can be more demoralizing than the let-down of the summer months.

The children have had a fine experience and have probably worked up more originality and initiative than they did in all the other months put together before that, for freedom is more conducive to development along certain lines than set daily routine. But they need system, they need the regular schedule of work—and the natural sequence of hours for sleeping, eating and playing.

HOME LIFE NORMAL AGAIN. Most mothers give thanks when vacation is over because by the first of September they begin to feel the impulse that the children's affairs have gotten into a hole in their mind and the youngsters over to the teachers to worry with for awhile. Moreover, the house gets back to normal with breakfast at eight, lunch at twelve and bedtime at the good old hour that used to be.

Now let us turn to the teacher. Strangely enough the first few days of school are the most difficult. It is a strange fact that children brought into the harness fresh from the woods, the farm, or even merely the city street are as good as gold the first few days of school. There are many reasons for this—a certain strangeness of adventure being one, for two months, or three, is a long time to children.

Usually there is a new room and a new teacher, occasionally even a new school. The scholars too are not quite so familiar as they were in the summer. They look a bit different. Mary Jones, for instance, has impressive glasses and Jimmy Smith who never wore a tie all last year has a brave new red one now.

PREPARE FOR REACTION. Books are different, lessons are different, everything has a tang—a bit of real thrill at first. And lessons are easy to break in the new school year; indeed the first week or two usually run like a new motor.

Then the bumps again. The thrill wears off, the strangeness subsides, the lessons get harder, and the children begin to wish the good old summer times were back. This is the time that all good mothers and true will come to the aid of the teacher, for this reactionary period is usually a trying time for her.

Home rule and school discipline can not be alike, but they can work together. Mothers should not jump to conclusions when things go wrong, but quietly shift the blame to the bottom. It is surprising how much co-operation accomplishes.

Picks Ninth Mate. Home rule and school discipline can not be alike, but they can work together. Mothers should not jump to conclusions when things go wrong, but quietly shift the blame to the bottom. It is surprising how much co-operation accomplishes.

Mrs. Frankie Davis-Greenup-Warrenton-Tabor, O'Neill-Catalina-Kille-Bryan of Denver, United States, above, has chosen her ninth husband, she announced to friends. "At last I have found love," she says. The name Frankie-Greenup will be added to her list of husbands.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily And Jackie's Surprise

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

One day Uncle Wiggily hopped past the pen where Mr. Twistytail, his fat pig gentleman friend, lived.

"Where are you going?" grunted the pig. He did not grunt to be impolite, or anything like that. But grunting was just the pig gentleman's manner of talking, just as a rooster gentleman crows when he talks and a hen lady cackles.

"I am going to the Hollow Stump School," answered the rabbit. "That Mr. Twistytail said. 'Don't you know enough, Mr. Longears?'"

"What do you mean—know enough?" Uncle Wiggily inquired. "I mean don't you know enough about how to read and do number work, and write and all that?" the pig asked. "Why should you go to school? My school days ended when I was a boy."

"Well, so did mine, for that matter," spoke the bunny. "But one can never learn too much. However, I am not going to the Hollow Stump School to say my lessons."

"Oh, goodie!" squeaked Miss Mouse, clapping her tiny paws. And if the fried egg doesn't jump out of the pan when the bacon is trying to tag it, I'll tell you next what Uncle Wiggily did.

"We shall see what happens," spoke the bunny. "I have a little surprise for Jackie."

"Oh, goodie!" squeaked Miss Mouse, clapping her tiny paws. And if the fried egg doesn't jump out of the pan when the bacon is trying to tag it, I'll tell you next what Uncle Wiggily did.

Lady Mouse, "It isn't that I am worried about and crying for."

"What then?" asked the bunny gentleman, anxious to help her. "It's like this," went on the Lady Mouse, opening her desk. "You see often, in class, some of the boy animals take out toys to play with behind their big geography books, you know."

"Yes," said Uncle Wiggily. "I know. He used to do the same when he was a boy rabbit."

"Well, I went on Miss Mouse," when I catch the boys with their toys I take them away and put them in my desk. But always, around Thanksgiving time, I give back the toys to the boys. A few weeks ago I took from Jackie Bow Wow some marbles he was playing with in class."

"Oh, Jackie!" murmured Mr. Longears. "He isn't so very bad," said Miss Mouse kindly. "So to-morrow I was planning to give him back his marbles. But when I looked for them in my desk just now I couldn't find them. They are gone and I feel so badly, because I know how disappointed Jackie will be, that I can't help crying. What shall I do? Jackie's marbles must have rolled out of a hole in my desk and I can't give them back to him as he expects. What shall I do? Oh, dear," and Miss Mouse wiped more tears from her eyes with the handkerchief on the end of her tail.

"I think I know a way to help you," said Uncle Wiggily. "Do you mean you can find Jackie's marbles that have disappeared and gone out of my desk?" asked Miss Mouse.

"We shall see what happens," spoke the bunny. "I have a little surprise for Jackie."

"Oh, goodie!" squeaked Miss Mouse, clapping her tiny paws. And if the fried egg doesn't jump out of the pan when the bacon is trying to tag it, I'll tell you next what Uncle Wiggily did.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

One of the fundamental rules of cooking for children is to vary their dietary in such a way that a balanced diet is maintained. Many adults ill may be traced to a lack of well chosen foods during childhood.

Certain foods make strong bones, others develop muscles, some create energy for immediate needs and still others are a protection against disease. All these foods must be provided daily to make children grow and keep healthy.

Milk, vegetables, cereals and fruits must be used in abundance. Not much meat is necessary; one special-ist in children's diets says that the "meat" of the child's hand."

Eggs and certain kinds of fish are good, although the method of serving them must be considered. Intense heat makes both of these foods hard to digest.

Milk is essential. Every growing child needs a quart of milk a day. This need not be consumed as a beverage, but can be used in cream soups and sauces, custards and simple puddings and on cereals and vegetables. If the child drinks his quart of milk in addition to these various dishes, so much the better.

Fruit is good for its mineral and vitamin content and often acts as a stimulant to a child's appetite. Either fresh, stewed, dried fruits or canned fruits are valuable in every meal of the day. The mother who has difficulty in persuading her child to eat vegetables can use an extra amount of fruit in his diet to advantage.

Leafy vegetables are very important. They have a unique value in being rich sources of tooth and bone building material. A child as young as two years of age should have one or two leafy vegetables every day.

Cereals are valuable and can be used in "gruels" from the time a child is seven or eight months old. Gradually thickened, they may appear in "porridge" form by the time he is a year and a half old. In a restricted diet, cereals can be used profitably twice a day. Two kinds can be served for the sake of variety. Preference should be given to those made from whole grains.

TO-MORROW'S MENU. Breakfast—Chilled tomato juice, cereal, cream, crisp toast, milk, coffee. Luncheon—Poached eggs in mashed potatoes, hearts of lettuce, sliced bananas, ginger snaps, milk, tea. Dinner—Beef and vegetable stew, baked squash, apple and celery salad, rice pudding, milk, coffee.

Disagreeable Old Mother Who Is Wrecking Her Daughters Home—Shall Second Man's Widow Marry Her Divorced First Husband?

DEAR MISS DIX—My mother, who is in her seventies, has lived with us for a number of years. She is one of those continual naggers who never lets things alone, and she interferes with everything we do and finds fault with my children. She can never have any parties because grandma, like noise. They can never do anything they want to do, because she doesn't do that way in her house. The children don't want to stay home because they have no liberty of their own house. My husband, one of the best men that ever lived, has been quiet and silent and hardly speaks a word. All of us are getting crabby and nervous and our home is about to fall to pieces. What can we do about it? I have a sister who lives in the city and who is able to help her mother, but she refuses to live in the house. EMMA S.

ANSWER: Your question is one that only common sense can answer, Mrs. S., for would take incarnate wisdom to solve the problem of what to do with a disagreeable, selfish old woman who is wrecking the lives of the children and grandchildren who are her helpless victims.

It is one of the most tragic situations in the world, and the terrible part is that it is so common. It is not just an occasional home that should be happy that is being made a place of torment by a hateful old woman, but hundreds upon thousands of them. Millions of them. Every day I get many letters such as yours telling the same story, telling of once-happy homes that have been wrecked, and husbands and children who have been driven away by a home-wrecker by a tyrannical old mother and asking the question of what to do about it.

And the pitiful part of it is that there is no remedy for the situation. There is nothing one can do about it. And the kinder and the better and the more conscientious children are and the more anxious to do their duty, the more helpless they are. It is only in novels that people change their positions and characters and are suddenly metamorphosed from whining, complaining, fault-finding, peevish old pests into sunny, sweet-tempered, kind old angels.

Certainly a woman in her seventies no more changes her temperament than a leopard changes its spots. It is useless to tell her that you have a right to your own home and that, inasmuch as she is only a guest in it, it is her duty to keep silence and let you run it to suit yourself and your band. She will interfere in everything you do just the same.

It is useless to tell her that times have changed and customs with them and that your children belong to the new age and must live according to the ethics of their generation. She will still argue every time Mary goes out with a boy or Johnny isn't in at 7 o'clock. It is useless to tell her that it infuriates your husband for her to back-seat chauffeur the whole house and advise and suggest about everything that is done in it. Nothing on earth could make her hold her tongue.

So there you are, and all that you can do is to accept your affliction with fortitude, you can and pray God for grace to stand it. It takes a courage that it does to stand before a firing squad or lead a forlorn hope on a battlefield. For it is a never-ending torment that goes on for years and years and that is like the stinging of nettles, the pebble in the shoe. There's recompense for the sordid little sacrifices that have nothing to make them worth while or give them dignity and honor.

And the worst part of it is that those whose lives are being ruined by their old parents have not even the consolation of being certain that they are doing the right thing in sacrificing their families to them. They are following the biblical injunction to honor their father or their mother, but that about sacrificing a good husband or a good wife to the exactions of an old man or woman? What about letting children be fretted at until their dispositions are ruined? What about young boys and girls not having any liberties in their own home and being driven on the streets to get away from grandma? What about letting all the peace and happiness of a home being wrecked by an old woman's nagging?

But there are two lessons that this problem of the old woman should bring to us. The first is the necessity for brothers and sisters to play fair with each other in the matter and not dump an unpleasant old woman on any member of the family. Nearly always one son or daughter is made the scapegoat and the others wish her on him or her while they get scot free. This is mean and dastardly thing to do. The burden shared by all would not hurt any one.

And the second lesson is to watch our step and keep ourselves from becoming one of the disagreeable old women who wreck their children's homes when they go to live with them.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am an attractive widow of fifty-four with six small children. I divorced my first husband. Now my second husband is dead and my first husband wants to remarry me. Should I marry him or find another husband? A LONESOME WIDOW.

ANSWER: I don't think a widow of fifty-four with six small children is likely to find many men fighting for the privilege of marrying her and taking on a large ready-made family. So if you are set on matrimony it seems to me that your No. 1 husband is the best bet, as I presume some, at least, of the children are his.

A childless widow, especially if she has some money, has generally small difficulty in finding another husband, but times are hard and living is dear and children are an expensive luxury in these days when they have to have many operations for adenoids and tonsils and appendicitis and what have you. So the widow with many little olive branches does not have suitors lining up in queues for the privilege of supporting some other man's children.

More About Manchuria

Manchuria might be called "the land of Soy Beans." Twenty million acres (almost 30,000 square miles) are planted with soy beans. That is close to one-fourth of all the land used for crops in Manchuria.

Young Manchurian woman in native costume.

In a recent year, Manchuria produced 5,550,000 tons of soy beans. Out half of this amount was exported. Japan received the lion's share of the exports, but thousands of tons of soy bean oil went to England and Germany.

Soy beans, which are white when cooked, are widely used as food in China and Japan. A brown sauce which we find in Chinese restaurants is made largely from the fermented seeds of soy beans.

Raising of soy beans has become popular in some sections of the United States, especially in the south. The stalks provide hay for livestock, and the vegetable oil pressed from the beans is highly valued. Wheat ranks second among the crops of Manchuria. In the northern part of the province are vast stretches of forest.

The Manchus possess no careful records of their early history, but they have a legend which runs like this: "Ages ago, under the shadow of the snow-capped mountains which divide Manchuria from Korea, three maidens came down from heaven. One day a maple passed overhead and dropped a blood-red fruit. The fruit was caught by the youngest maiden, and she became the mother of the line of Manchus."

The ancestors of the Manchus appear to have been tribesmen who did a great deal of moving about. Then came the conquest of China. Manchus ruled China, but in a sense the Manchus were conquered by the Chinese—they married among the Chinese and took on the Chinese language.

The "pure-blood" Manchus who remain in Manchuria will no doubt mix with the Chinese in the course of time, and the Manchus will vanish from the earth. (Boys and girls may find this article helpful as a topic at school.)

"ROBIN HOOD" DATE NEARS

Local Offering of Tunesful
Opera at the Royal November 27 and 28

Polishing touches are now being put on the local cast for de Koven's light opera, "Robin Hood," which will be presented by the Victoria Operatic Society at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Friday and Saturday evenings, November 27 and 28.
Practices are being held twice a week and when the curtain ascends on the first night performance the audience will see a performance of finish and excellence. Mail orders are now being received at the theatre box office and judging by the large number of orders there will be capacity audiences both evenings. The box office will be open on November 25. A full dress rehearsal is being held this week. The picturesque costumes are now nearly finished. Under the direction of Mrs. Horace Hamlet an energetic committee has been seeing to the details of dress for principals and members of the chorus. The ladies of the company will wear colorful gowns and the gentlemen will appear in costumes of the time when Robin Hood and his merry outlaws roamed Sherwood Forest.
Special scenery and properties are also being made for the local presentation. The properties are in charge of L. C. Ogilvie and Miss Ogilvie. The Morris dance and the Maypole dance, two of the numbers in the opera, are under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Wilson of the Russian School of Ballet Dancing. Mrs. D. B. O'Connell has charge of the publicity. The accompanists are Mrs. Clifford Wain and Ted Holloway.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Joe E. Brown, most likable comedian of the screen, demonstrates the fact that his middle initial should really stand for "Expedition," now at the Capitol Theatre.
Joe E. is appearing there in his latest First National comedy, "Local Boy Makes Good," in which he portrays a backward college boy who makes good—for his alma mater and his lady love—as a sprinter on the relay team at an intercollegiate track meet.
Brown, who was formerly a professional baseball player with the New York Americans, is really a capable sprinter and runs with some of the fastest track men in America in the picture.

FILM STARS HOME FROM EUROPE

It was a fair morning on the deck of the liner Europa, and a goodly crowd of photographers was there. So these three film beauties, pictured here as they arrived in New York from Europe, smiled their prettiest. Left to right are Mrs. Kay Mulhall, wife of the screen star; Constance Talmadge, and Lenore Bushman, daughter of Francis X. Bushman.

Where To Go To-night

As Advertised

ON THE SCREEN

Capitol — Joe E. Brown in "Local Boy Makes Good."
Dominion — "Guilty Hands," with Lionel Barrymore.
Columbia — "Dirigible," starring Jack Holt.
Playhouse — "Reno," starring Ruth Roland.
Coliseum — "Transgression," starring Kay Francis.

ON THE STAGE

Crystal Garden—Swimming, dancing, badminton.

DOMINION THEATRE

Lionel Barrymore is featured as the master killer in "Guilty Hands," Bayard Veiller's new mystery drama at the Dominion Theatre as a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offering.
In this startling thriller Barrymore contributes the best performance he has ever given on the screen. His characterization of the veteran prosecutor and attorney, facing the necessity of killing a man himself, rises far above all the dramatic heights of all his earlier efforts, even including his personal triumph in "A Free Soul."

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Montagu Love, who makes Ruth Roland's life miserable as her husband in her first talking picture, "Reno," at the Playhouse Theatre, has had many amusing experiences in trying to have his first name properly spelled, "most people insist upon spelling it with a final 'e'." In one of his legitimate stage engagements, the press agent insisted upon spelling it incorrectly. Love took him to task, and, being angry, yelled at him, "there is no final 'e' on my name." The press agent wrote a lot of new material and submitted it to Mr. Love for his approval. Love noticed his name was spelled "Montague Lov.".

COLUMBIA THEATRE

The Navy rigid airship, ZR-3, more familiarly known to newspaper readers as the Los Angeles, is in reality the mechanical star of "Dirigible," the Columbia Picture current at the Columbia Theatre. Through the co-operation of the Navy Department, the Los Angeles was used in all of the scenes requiring a dirigible. Most of the picture was filmed at the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst, N.J., home port of the Los Angeles.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE AT "Y"

Seventy-five senior members of the Y.M.C.A. yesterday evening undertook to launch a drive aimed to bring in 200 new members by December 1. The decision to hold the campaign was endorsed following an address by Rev. E. F. Church, guest speaker, who gave an outline of the benefit the Y.M.C.A. had been to him.

Mr. Church made reference to the value of the association during his boyhood, tracing its influence through his youth and during the war. One of the few tender memories he held of the war had been a "Y" hut, he told the gathering.

H. B. Dawson, chairman of the finance board, gave a summary of the financial standing. He stated the association cost $24,000 a year to operate. Of this $11,000 was met by dormitory revenue, $6,000 by memberships and the remainder from gifts and social functions.

He gave the deficit for the year as $4,000.

R. J. Smith, head of the membership committee, outlined a manner in which the drive could be staged. His suggestion was adopted.

Fox Show Adds Classification

The second annual exhibition of the British Columbia Fox and Fur Farmers' Association has added a separate championship classification for Canadian national registered silver foxes. The exhibition will be held at the winter fair at Hastings Park, Vancouver, from November 30 to December 3, inclusive. The new classification is additional to those published in the recently issued prize list.
It is stated by officials of the association that several parties about to establish fur farms in British Columbia have announced intention to purchase their foundation stock at the exhibition.

WILL PRESENT FAMOUS SCENES

C. L. Granville to Appear Here
November 23 in Scenes
From Historical Moments

Perhaps the most unique dramatic programme ever offered in Victoria will be given by V. L. Granville, famous English actor, when he comes under the auspices of the Temple Brotherhood on Monday, November 23. His programme will be given in the City Temple Auditorium.
"Making many costume changes, and carrying unique and effective lighting effects which are operated by his personal stage manager, Mr. Granville will run the changes on tragedy and comedy, beginning with the portrayal of the prophet Job and ending with the modern French drama.
"Dramatic Interludes" provides a vital commentary embracing the whole range of dramatic literature. The story of the drama is presented in chronological sequences, each role being enacted in full costume and "make-up," all of which is done on the stage in full view of the audience. Each selection forms a complete picture and is prefaced by a short description of the play while the requisite costume change is being made.

COLISEUM THEATRE

Youthful ambitions never went wider of their goal than those of Paul Cavanagh, the popular English stage and screen star, who portrays an "outraged husband" in Radio Picture's daring drama, "Transgression," now at the Coliseum Theatre. He wanted to be a polo player but instead became in the order mentioned, a traveler, a woodsman and farmer, a Northwest Mounted Policeman, a soldier, a lawyer and an actor.

TUBERCULOSIS WORK IS TOLD TO KIWANIS

Miss E. Thornley Reviews Campaign Financed by Kiwanis Christmas Seals

Open Windows in Bedrooms Advised; Fight Influenza in Bed

The wide scope of disease preventive work made possible by the Kiwanis Club's Christmas Tuberculosis Seal campaign was explained to the members of the club this afternoon by Miss Ethel Thornley, supervising nurse of the Victorian Order of Nurses. In an address marked by concentration of information Miss Thornley outlined the importance of preventive work in the homes, especially in times of distress and widespread unemployment.

"It is a peculiar thing, but in our work we can tell, as soon as we approach a house, whether the mother is working. Unemployment changes the entire atmosphere of a house, especially where there is a large family," Thornley said.

Miss Thornley said the work of the Kiwanis Club's milk fund had been of great importance, having been the means of aiding many sick or weak persons towards recovery.

Tolmie Cabinet Seeks Further Information Before Announcing Work Camp Policy

Government's Responsibility in Accepting $500,000 a Month Debated

With Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, back from Ottawa, members of the provincial government wrestled all day yesterday with unemployment problems and the question of men idle in relief camps, pending a decision to go ahead with work.

Troubles have been complicated by complaints which have been received from municipalities protesting the inadequacy of the amounts allotted to them in the recently published lists of work approved under the contributory schemes, the amounts being declared so small in some instances that municipalities fear they may be forced to shut down on relief work.

The cabinet to-day again went into session on unemployment and until their deliberations were ended, Mr. Bruhn was unable to say when work might be resumed at relief camps. The Dominion Government, it was announced, is prepared to make advances of $500,000 a month on progress certificates on British Columbia's relief work. This, Mr. Bruhn said, would last for four months and would be in addition to the programme previously approved. Doubts as to whether the advances would be on a contributory basis have been raised and no action to accept the offer has been taken pending answer to further questions sent to Ottawa, following yesterday's cabinet meeting.

Until the cabinet had further considered their plans Mr. Bruhn declined to make announcements.

HOPE TO SAVE EXCHANGE LOSS

An attempt to save the exchange rate in payment of the city's debts in New York will be made, it was learned this morning when City Comptroller D. A. Macdonald was authorized by the City Council to make arrangements with the bank for payment of the city's obligations in gold.

Mayor Ambrose explained that under a recent order-in-council passed by the federal cabinet this could be negotiated, thus preventing the city from incurring another loss such as it sustained soon after the exchange rate fell, when it was required to meet a debt maturing in New York in currency, gold not being available.

The council also authorized the comptroller to negotiate a $200,000 credit with the Bank of Montreal to carry the city's overdraft.

Lost—One world's champion high jumper. That is the best man in which to describe the sudden disappearance of Ethel Catherwood, winner for Canada of the women's high jump at the 1928 Olympic games at Amsterdam. Rumors and more rumors are hovering about regarding the romance of beautiful Ethel. Recently reports from Montreal indicated that romance was in the offing, and that Miss Catherwood would not return to Toronto this winter. BUSH MAY BE MINOR PILOT

Former Manager of Chicago Sox Mooted as New Minneapolis Mentor

Chicago, Nov. 17.—President Thomas J. Hickey of the American Association, to-day faced what seems to be an annual campaign to unseat him, but apparently with the advantage on his side.

Club owners of the association, one of the three AA circuits, were in Chicago for the annual meeting, and the big item on the business schedule concerned Hickey's tenure of office.

The Hickey forces claimed four votes as certain, which would be sufficient to keep him in the office he has held for eighteen years. His principal opposition was expected to come from backers of George Belden, president of the Minneapolis club.

Belden stood out as a possibility because of reports that Mike Kelley, present manager of the Millers, might be elevated to the presidency of the club, and that Donnie Bush, who piloted the Chicago White Sox during the 1930 and 1931 campaigns, would assume Kelley's job. Other possibilities were Joe Carr, president of the International Professional Football League, and William Clauer, former secretary of the Indianapolis club.

It was hinted that Hickey if ousted from his present position, might become a candidate for the presidency of the National Association of Minor Leagues. M. L. Sexton, president of the latter group, also is said to have opposition which will present a candidate at the annual convention at West Baden, Ind., early next month.

AN EXPERIMENT
He obtained permission to use it from J. S. Edstrom, Stockholm, Sweden, head of the International Amateur Athletic Federation in charge of Olympic track and field competition. The camera will be used only experimentally at the 1932 games, however. If it is successful, Kirby said, it will be adopted to time many major championships.

A camera timer, somewhat crude then, was used at the I.C.A.A.A. meet at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, last spring, and will be tried again at the 1932 championships at Berkeley, Cal. July 8 and 9, which will be a semi-final trial for the United States Olympic team.

that there was a reason for it. Up until last season Hap was the biggest part of the Toronto defense, but as soon as Red Horner and the incomparable "King" Clancy swung into action Hap again came into his own. This year fans are howling for a conquest that will bring a world title to that shiny new home of hockey, which they believe to be second to none on the continent.

GREEN MILL AND "Y" WIN HOOP GAMES

Former Defeat J.B.A.A. Five 38 to 12 to Strengthen Lead in Senior "C" League

Cafemen Have Nearly Clinched First Half Honors; "Y" Win Over Navy 38 to 2

Showing vast improvement over past performances, the Green Mill defeated the J.B.A.A. 38 to 12 in yesterday evening's senior "C" men's basketball game at the Centennial gymnasium. The victory places the Green Mill squad well out in front in the standing, and they should win the second half handsly.

In the other game the fast stepping Y.M.C.A. intermediate "A" men took the Navy into camp by the one-sided score of 32 to 2.

Stepping out from the opening whistle the Green Mill five were never headed in the senior-man's game, and at half time were leading 20 to 10. This lead was gained mainly through the fine shooting of Baker, Williams and Hill.

GUARDS PLAY WELL
In the second half the cafemen had things more their own way, adding another eighteen points to their score while they held the opposing forwards to one lone basket. The play of Pettigrew and Hill, the defence, was outstanding in this half.

Baker with ten points was the leading scorer for the winners, while Clark accounted for five to lead the losers. The teams and individual scores follow:

Green Mill—Jones 5, Smith 3, Baker 10, Williams 6, Hill 9, Pettigrew 2 and Wood 2.

J.B.A.A.—Scott 3, Bull, Taylor, Williams, Clark 5, Elliott 4 and Moses.

Scoring fifteen points in the first half and seventeen in the second while they held their opponents to a lone foul goal in each half, the Y.M.C.A. intermediates showed real class in whipping the Navy. The youngsters from the "Y" passed and shot like veterans, while their defence was airtight.

Caddell with eight points was the leading scorer.

Alastair Lemarquand refereed both games.

The teams and individual scores follow:

Y.M.C.A.—Bradley 4, Gelling 2, Harding 6, Caddell 4, Martin 5, Fields 1, Thompson and A. Fields 5.

Navy—Roberts, Burns 1, Blacklock, Smith, Sewell 1 and McCullagh.

FIVE GAMES ON VICTORIA RUGBY CARD SATURDAY

It will be hard to pick the feature in Saturday's five-game rugby card, judging from past performances of the squads playing.

In the senior division James Bay Athletic Association, with one victory and one defeat, will battle the Fifth Regiment, which dropped an encounter to the Scottish two weeks ago, while the Wanderers, who have taken two defeats, will be out to break into the win column at the expense of the Navy, who defeated the Bays last Saturday.

Score One-sided Victories in Lower Island Badminton League Matches

J.B.A.A.'s fourth division badminton team chalked up an 11-to-5 win over the Hillcrest team yesterday evening at the Rex Theatre, while at the Memorial Hall, the two Christ Church teams met in a third division fixture, which resulted in a 14-to-2 win for the number one team.

The Bays started well by winning three of four women's doubles and secured an even break in the men's doubles. In the mixed they won six out of eight to decisively win.

Christ Church's number two squad put out a good fight and several tight matches resulted but the first team had the advantage in the extra point games and managed to hold their opponents to two wins.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

Strong Mainland Squads Expected For Title Gala

Word From Vancouver Indicates Terminal City Will Have About Twenty Competitors in B.C. Championship Meet at Crystal Garden on November 28; New Westminster Also Promises Strong Representation; Two Cities Will Offer Plenty of Competition for Local Aces

About twenty of Vancouver's leading swimmers are expected to be here for the British Columbia championship gala to be held by the Y.M.C.A. in the Crystal Garden on November 28, it was announced to-day by Archie McKinnon, swimming coach and physical director of the local association, on receipt of a letter from Captain A. Clappitt, Vancouver leader. In addition to the Terminal City representation many are coming from New Westminster, where the game has been making great progress under the guiding hand of Len Letroy, Y.M.C.A. leader, in that city.

Included in the Vancouver team will be Eddie Hornsby, promising young mainlander who is setting his eyes on the Canadian Olympic trials next year. The Vancouver swimmers will likely arrive in Victoria on Friday, November 27, to work out in the local pool a day before the gala.

Lillian Kellington, Royal City maid of unusual talent, and Jimmy Wilson, all round competitor for the same club, are among the New Westminster aces expected over. Recently, Blossom Bentley, crack breaststroke ace, is also expected to be over, while George Burrows is another possible entry. These competitors will no doubt find strong challenges in the men's three-metre diving, women's 100 yards breaststroke and men's 100 yards backstroke, the three provincial championship events.

Particular interest has been created in the special men's invitation relay race, for which the Top Tailors have promised a perpetual trophy.

International Women's Golf Series Is Planned

Team Competition on Lines of Walker Cup Series; Six Players on Each Side

First Competition in England Next Spring; Line-up of U.S. Team Suggested

New York, Nov. 17.—International team competition between women players of the United States and Great Britain probably will receive official sanction by the executive committee of the United States Golf Association at its meeting here Thursday.

Present plans call for a bi-annual competition along the lines of the Walker Cup matches except that the women's teams possibly will be limited to six players. Walker Cup teams consist of eight players and two alternates.

Glenn Collett led a team of United States women against a British squad at Formby last year in an informal test designed to prove to U.S.G.A. officials that such competition would not be lacking in interest. Indications are that golf's rulers were convinced.

FIRST SERIES NEXT YEAR
If sanction is forthcoming the first official series probably will be played in England next spring with the second in the United States in 1934.

There is talk already of the possible make-up of the United States team, and the names of Miss Collett, Helen Hicks, the U.S. champion; Virginia Van Winkle, Chicago; Maureen O'Connell, Englewood, N.J.; Mrs. Leona Fraser, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Opal A. Hill, Kansas City, have been suggested as candidates.

EDDIE OATMAN AGAIN PILOTS BUFFALO CLUB

Former Victoria Hockey Player Has Strong Team For American League Race One of Best Teams in "Outlaw" Circuit; Gene Carrigan Is Welcome Addition

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 17.—The new hockey season looks good to the Buffalo Majors, who missed a play-off berth in the American League last spring because, homeless waits, they lost more ground in early-season battle than a fast finish could regain. In their own Broadway Auditorium, Majors plan to make home games pay them point-dividends during the campaign they started Sunday by losing to Chicago.

Recognized as one of the strongest teams in the circuit at the end of last season, when they came up from the cellar after mid-season and finished fourth—six points away from a play-off place—the Majors have strengthened but little. But Coach Eddie Oatman, a star in the old Pacific Coast League days, and still able to hold his own now as a defenceman, has retained his full line-up from a year ago.

THE ADDITIONS
The additions include Gene Carrigan, high-scoring forward, who comes to "outlaw" hockey from the Canadian-American League, and Bill Holmes, shifty Brandon, Man., centre man, whose professional career has landed him with London, Niagara Falls and Syracuse in the International League. Other newcomers are Pat Callahan and Dick Benson.

Oatman has three good rear-guard men to help him on defence. Babe Donnelly, once an amateur "great" with the Greyhounds, from Sault Ste. Marie, is still one of the league's best defence players, and the Contant brothers, Harold and steady support. This line provides goalie Joe Stark, former Toronto Aurs Lee netman, with as strong protection as any in the league.

Three regular forwards from last season are back, and Oatman anticipates Ralph Remick, Crutchy Morrison and Joe Thompson, culled from Manitoba hockey hot-house, will work well with the new material. Jack St. John, former University of Manitoba winger and a front-line stalwart during the Majors' dark days, has been disposed of to Kansas City.

Wheat Prices Move Upward On Strong Liverpool Reports

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—Renewed strength at Liverpool was reflected in brisk upturns in wheat futures on the grain exchange here to-day. Prices at the close were 1/4 to 1/2 cents higher than Monday's close.

November closed at 66 1/2, up 1/4; December at 66 1/2, recorded a similar advance to 67 1/2, and July at 70 1/2 and 71 1/2, respectively each chalked up gains of 1/4 to 1/2 cents.

From a one-cent advance early in the session all wheat futures shot ahead to mark up gains of 1/4 cents at the high points and finish fractionally lower for the day. Local buying accounted for the most of the last-

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG
(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—Wheat prices continued their upward trend again to-day, and on the grain exchange here, two cents above the close of yesterday. Strong Liverpool cables were a factor, but there was excellent buying during the first period that was credited to continental houses.

During the latter part of the day the buying was mostly all of a local character, but perhaps the main feature was that the offerings were extremely light all day, there being practically no hedging sales and very little liquidation, except on the extreme upturn.

Local sentiment was bullish and there was good support that came into the market when prices received a setback around mid-session of about three-quarters of a cent, and this buying carried prices to new highs for the day, and also carried Chicago upward, that market being helped to some extent by the strength in corn. Unfortunately there was very little export business worth mentioning outside of the buying early in the session by the continental houses. Seaboard also reported export business as slow following Monday's upturn of three cents.

The local cash market was very quiet, and outside of a small demand for the toughs, there was nothing doing. Spreads on the toughs were fractionally better and unchanged on all other grades. Offerings were not pressing. Brastree's world visible supply of wheat increased 11,594,000 bushels for the week.

There were further reports from Argentina that the frost caused considerable damage to the wheat crop, and that harvesting has commenced. Good rains were again received over large areas of the winter wheat belt.

CHICAGO
(By Logan & Bryan)
Chicago, Nov. 17.—Wheat: The general feeling in the market was strong all day with prices responding to continued board buying, this demand absorbing heavy selling around 65 for May in the early trade. Foreign news was regarded as encouraging to holders, with cables strong. Winnipeg sharply higher and confirmation of frost damage in Argentina.

Liverpool closed 1/4 to 1/2 higher. Rains fell in portions of our northwest, but did not bring much relief in the sections where drought conditions are most acute. It was colder in Canada, with some snow fall. Bradstreet reported an increase of 11,594,000 bushels in the world stocks, the gain being mainly in Canada, where receipts have been heavy for some time.

Export business in Canada was good and apparently all the offers are being taken. There was also some business in hard winters, but it was not extensive. The market had a good reaction last week, but underlying sentiment is bullish, and there has been excellent support for the market, with evidence that support will be active on the upturn. Think prices will move irregularly higher.

Corn scored a good advance with more buying than recently, and the small receipts tend to create a strong situation. Primary arrivals to-day were only 264,000 bushels vs. 753,000 bushels a year ago, which reflects the attitude of country holders to a decided extent. The shipping demand is fair, with country bookings only 17,000 bushels.

Find Dynamite Hidden To Blow Up N.Y. Barges

Associated Press
New York, Nov. 17.—With enough dynamite "to blow up half the town"—dynamite cached for a time in a coin-in-the-slot locker of a busy downtown subway station—found by police in time to thwart what they charge was a plot to blow up barges on the Manhattan waterfront, five men were under arrest today.

Police said the dynamite had been stolen, cached through busy city streets and carried against the hour when it was to have been used to destroy barges in a warfare between rival factions among harbor workers.

The five under arrest are members of the Independent Tidewater Boatmen's Union, which police say is a Communist organization, which has been in conflict with the boatmen's union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. All are charged with placing explosives aboard vessels.

Police said one of the men had confessed, implicating the other four.

Boy Drowning But Clings To Prized Bicycle

Gordon Fisher Falls Over Dock Into Icy Waters But Hangs on to Prized Wheel Until Rescuer Comes.

William Harrison, an employee of the Victoria Cold Storage Plant, was the hero in a Sunday afternoon rescue at the Ogden Point pier, when he hauled Gordon Fisher, thirteen-year-old boy of 2140 Besh Drive, out of the water after he had fallen in with his bicycle.

Young Fisher was riding his bicycle too close to the edge when he fell in. In some remarkable way he managed to stay on his machine and to keep afloat with one foot on a log. Mr. Harrison, seeing the accident, crawled down the stone facing of the dock and succeeded in reaching the boy, who clung tenaciously to his valued bicycle. The rescuer, the lad and the bicycle reached the dock.

The boy was brought into the cold storage plant and there a brisk rubbing revived him from the effects of the icy water. Later the police ambulance took him to his home. Although damaged, the bicycle will be as good as new after some repairs.

Friendship of Sam Lockett, right, for Charlie Pratt, left, both of Knoxville, Tenn., has been tried and found not wanting. Sam called Knoxville a name in an argument over Sam's marital difficulties. In the ensuing fight Sam received a slash that cut off the end of his nose. When the fight was over, Sam was taken to a hospital where he pleaded for and obtained his friend's release. The Knoxville News-Sentinel appealed for some plastic surgeon to "match Sam Lockett's unselfishness by giving him free service." Dr. Max Thorek, surgeon-in-chief of the American Hospital, said he would do the work if the hospital was offered to take him to Chicago by plane and he accepted.

If "an apple a day keeps the doctor away," think of all the doctors this huge bin of apples would put out of business! UNDER THE SURFACE

GOLD

At this very moment, under the surface of Canadian business and economic conditions, many millions of hidden dollars lie buried by uncertainty and over-cautiousness.

Of Canada's ten millions of people nine millions decimal something-very-considerable—are still "on the job", steadily at work, drawing regular wages, or supported by those who are at work.

And spending less than they can well afford to spend.

This reluctance to buy was initiated by want of confidence and born through the "my job may go next" idea. This complex, multiplied by millions, has become a most formidable habit that is now being broken in the slowly gaining fight to reach anew our national prosperity.

This is the time—with gradual improvement evidencing a fuller and more reasonable measure of national confidence—to dig out and put back into useful circulation these hidden hoards of Canadian buying power.

The Daily Newspapers are more powerful today than ever to eat through the outer crust of consumer resistance and reach the buying public which represents 90% of all our people.

Most Canadians are at work. They read their newspapers today with keener interest than ever before. Reach them by placing your message in that atmosphere of vitality which the Daily Newspaper brings as no other medium can do.
